FOOTBALL 1989

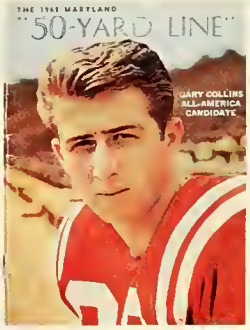
Media Guide 1989



Press guides, press guides, there can be no college football team without a press guide. About the time Byrd Stadium was constructed in 1950, Maryland produced its first press guide. Soon after a national championship arrived (1953), and the press guide became de rigueur, like blocking dummies, numbered jersies, barbells and free press box food.

Roaming across the cover of numerous guides and game programs, as well as Byrd, came the Terrapin quarterback. He was special. He was drafted often into the dream of professional football. He threw for miles before a football mad fan, who for many seasons was just south of Johnny Unitas and north of Sonny Jurgensen. The Maryland fan identified with the splendid quarterback. Why not?

In their footsteps a year ago came the NFL Player of the Year, Boomer Esiason, Class of '84. In the AFC Championship Game, Esiason of the Cincinnati Bengals was on the opposite sideline of Stan Gelbaugh, Class of '86, and Frank Reich, Class of '85, who were Buffalo Bill quarterbacks.

And in their footsteps comes Neil O'Donnell, Class of '89 and Graduate Student. The most accurate passer in school history, O'Donnell led the Terps to a first division ACC finish in 1988. In the season's 10th game, Maryland played eventual league champion Clemson for the league lead. This was beyond lowly pre-season predictions, and O'Donnell was a key to unexpected success. His heart and leadership were as valuable as his right arm, which has put him in the position to carry beyond most of his Terp predecessors. O'Donnell's 1989 begins with a press guide; it could end with him rewriting a good portion of its record section.

And in his footsteps? Scott Zolak, Class of '91, has already distiguished himself in the ACC wars, and yet undiscovered Terps are ready to continue.

Welcome to Byrd

There is pleasure in showing off Maryland. There is a lot to do, a lot to see within miles of Byrd Stadium. The road out of College Park quickly hits Baltimore's Inner Harbor, Annapolis's waterline, and Washington's monuments. We try to bring something of the state to football Saturday's: the state flag leads the Terps onto the field, and in the press box Joe F. Blair can recount past glories of Maryland like no one else. Joe was the SID for the 1953 National Champions, and he is the gracious proprieter of the Byrd Box where Maryland Crab Soup and on occasion a Crab Cake is served. One amenity Joe is not in charge of is the very loud cannon fired after Terp TDs. Ask Joe for a soup, but don't ask him about the cannon. In a state long on tradition, hospitality is revered.

Maryland Hunt Valley-Crab Soup

2 cups chopped onion; 2 cups chopped celery; 1 cup chopped carrots, 1 cup chopped green peppers; 3 qts. chicken or fish stock; 4 ozs. ground beef; 4 ozs. butter; 1 tsp. Old Bay seasoning; 1/4 tsp. tyme; 1/4 tsp. black pepper; 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper; 1/2 tsp. salt; one 28 oz. can of tomatoes; 1 1/2 lbs. back fin crab meat. Mix all ingredients, except crab meat, and simmer slowly. Skim the surface during heating, and cook until the vegetables are soft. Add crab meat and cook for 10 minutes, while stirring carefully. Feeds 12.

Before Your Visit

Credentials should be ordered from the Sports Information Office at least two weeks before hitting the Byrd Box. Requests may be mailed on letterhead, or you may join the information revolution and fax your request. Only working press will be admitted to the press box. (What is nonworking press? Answer: members of the media who are not necessarily on immediate deadline, and who give the impression in the press box of being on a cruise.)

Since some home games, like the Terp visit to Baltimore's Memorial Stadium for the Penn State game, prove more equal than others, early requests for credentials are essential. We will try to accomodate all requests, but it may not prove possible.

Player interviews may be ordered through Joe Blair, Herb Hartnett or Ivan Meltzer. They need 24 hours advance notice to arrange an interview, which is best accomplished in-person around daily practices. Student-athletes will return phone calls when requested; their phone numbers will not be distributed.

Coach Krivak may be interviewed by telephone regarding next week's game on Sunday afternoons (approximately 3:30 to 5 p.m.). He is available for in-person interviews during and after his Tuesday Noon press luncheons that are located in the Adult Education Building on campus, and before and after daily practices. On Wednesdays he may be heard as part of the ACC Football Teleconference, which begins at 11:00 a.m. with each league coach speaking for 10 minutes. Krivak is heard at approximately 11:40 as each coach speaks in alphabetical order by school. On Thursdays Krivak is available for interviews by telephone; the best time to contact him is Noon to 1:30 p.m.

Coach Krivak requests that the media do not try to interview student-athletes between team meetings at any time. On Fridays the best time to interview Krivak is after the short practice that occurs the day before a game. Student athletes are available for interviews on Monday, but not Coach Krivak.

Recorded interviews with Coach Krivak are provided for the press by Maryland's University radio station, WMUC, at 301-454-7420.

Terrapin Game Day

Working press and photo credentials will be mailed when possible. Credentials that can't be mailed are available at Window Six on the south (or press box) side of Byrd Stadium.

Press Parking passes are honored in the parking garage next to Cole Field House, which is across the street from the Byrd Press Box. At Baltimore Memorial Stadium, press parking is close to the elevator which leads to the press box.

The Byrd Box is located at the top of the south stands and print media are located on the second level, originating television crews and photographers on the roof. Baltimore Memorial Stadium's press box is on the facing of the upper deck, and its photo box runs along the front of the booth. At Byrd, the media must enter through exterior stairs to the second level.

Before the game photographers will be issued arm bands at midfield behind the Maryland bench. The sports information photo coordinator on the sidelines is Rose Pietrzak. No photographer will be allowed to work unless they have both the photographer's pass which gained them admittance, and an arm band. Rose will have programs, flips, and food on the field.

Those needing to write will be given preferential treatment when providing table space. There are telephones available to the media to transmit stories. Anyone wishing their own phone may order one from the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland, 301-852-4540.

Post Game

Complete statistics will be distributed, enough to satisfy lovers of drive charts and esoteric football minutia. Quotatons from both coaches will be duplicated for those unable to hear two coaches speak in two different places at the same time. There is no common post-game press conference featuring the combatants.

The Play-by-Play by Jeff Rhodes is not common. "Leaps the pile," "pseudo-reverse," "Herculean," "risks life and limb," "tanks up the middle," "wobbles forward," "something is not cricket," are just a few of the phrases Rhodes employs to raise the Play-by-Play above a dull read. In one drive this year, he "verbed" his way to star status: "veers," "tanks," "motors around," "jukes," "slices," "scampers," "blasts," "grinds," "rumbles," and "trucks around" were included in a particularly colorful, descriptive sequence.

Food service is available on the second level of the Byrd Box. There is no need for the media to practice the ancient reportorial art of snarfing by going to the first floor for better food. Matt Sheriff and Jim Allenchey of the Maryland Dining Service will have their crab soup for every home game on the second level, and crab cakes will be stocked for special occasions.

Post-game stats are forwarded free of charge on a Fax machine. See Joe F. Blair if you need post-game stats moved quickly.

Post Game Interviews for Maryland will be held in the Football Team Building in the northeast corner of the Byrd complex. Blair and Ivan Meltzer will bring to the football classroom all Maryland athletes asked for by the press, and Head Coach Krivak. Visiting coaches and players are available at the visitor's lockerroom which is also in the northeast corner of the Byrd complex. Visiting SIDs coordinate these interviews.

A wrap-up of the game is on the Terphone (301-454-TERP).

President

Dr. William E. Kirwan

As president of the University of Maryland College Park (UMCP), Dr. Kirwan leads a campus of nearly 37,000 students. Seven of its academic programs — art, history, physics, mathematics, computer science, electrical engineering, zoology, and economics — rank among the top ten of such programs of public universities nationwide.

In competitive awards of federal grants, UMCP ranks fourth in the nation among public university campuses without a medical school. It ranks first on the East Coast and 10th among public universities in the number of prestigous fellowships awarded to faculty during the past five years.

Dr. Kirwan joined the University of Maryland College Park in 1964 as an assistant professor of mathematics. He rose through the faculty ranks as associate professor (1968-72), professor (1972-present) and chairman (1977-81).

In 1981, he was appointed to the campus's chief academic post, vice chancellor for academic affairs. He served as acting chancellor for four months in 1982 and returned in November to his vice chancellor position. He was appointed provost in 1986. With the birth of the new University of Maryland System, he became vice president for academic affairs in 1988 and also was appointed acting president that year.

A native of Louisville, KY, Dr. Kirwan received a bachelor's degree from the University of Kentucky in 1960. He went to school on a football scholarship and his father was Kentucky head coach. He holds a master's degree (1962) and a Ph.D. (1964) from Rutgers University. All of his degrees are in mathematics.

Dr. Kirwan, 50, and his wife, Patricia, live in Silver Spring, MD. Their son has a bachelor's and a master's degree in architecture from the College Park campus; their daughter is a junior at the campus.

Director of Athletics

Lew Perkins

Perkins is an athletic administrator who has gained national notice for his commitment to the education of the student-athlete, and for his ability at infusing new growth into once successful programs.

Perkins earned his way to Maryland and the Atlantic Coast Conference by building one athletic department from its beginning (South Carolina at Aiken, 1969-1980), infusing a traditional program with record-setting growth (Pennsylvania, 1980-1983), and rebuilding the fortunes of Wichita State (1983-1987). He was selected by the Arizona Republic as one of the nation's best athletic directors while at Wichita State, and in a unique pronouncement, the NCAA cited Wichita State for running an exemplary program.

Among Perkins's initial decisions at Maryland was to create an Academic Support Unit that continues to get top priority in any Terrapin athletic plans. Given the job of adjusting the academic scales in the athletic department, he created awards for classroom oriented student-athletes, opened up the department to in-put from the faculty, and students, and implemented campus policies designed to strengthen academics.

The just completed school year saw Perkins inaugurate The Maryland Partnership, a matching gifts program between the state and friends of University athletics. Maryland is now raising $12 million in private donations to match $7 million in state funds. Of these monies, $16 million is to go to the refurbishment of the Byrd Stadium complex.

On-field success in 1988-1989 was highlighted by the women's basketball and men's lacrosse teams reaching their NCAA Final Four competitions. Maryland hosted the Lacrosse Final Four, and it has been awarded the NCAA Wrestling and Volleyball championships in 1990, and first and second round NCAA men's basketball games in 1991.

He is married to the former Gwen Flaum. Like Lew, she earned both an undergraduate degree from Iowa and a master's degree in education from the University of South Carolina. They have two daughters, Amy, 18, a Maryland student, and Holly, 16.

Willie Johnson's Original Crab Cake Recipe

Mr. Johnson has been making Crab Cakes at the University for over 31 years. He's proud to share his crab cuisine with Terp fans, and for anyone who wants a taste of Maryland

4 slices of bread
1/4 lb. butter
1/4 tsp. hot sauce
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. Old Bay seasoning
1 tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
2 eggs
1 tsp. chopped parsley
2lbs. back fin crab meat

Trim crusts from bread, and make coarsely chopped bread crumbs. Combine bread crumbs with melted butter, seasonings and ligthtly beated eggs. Carefully mix in the crab meat, but try to avoid over mixing (this will help keep large chunks of crab meat in mixture).

Form into crab cakes, and saute in butter until golden brown. Makes 12 large cakes.

The History

The university began in Baltimore in 1807 as a faculty-owned College of Medicine, which granted the M.D. degree. Five years later, more degrees were added when the college was renamed the University of Maryland. The first dental school in America, the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, became a part of the university in 1840. Later, the university opened schools of pharmacy, law and nursing.

The College Park campus opened in 1859 under a charter secured in 1856 by a group of Maryland planters. Then called the Maryland Agricultural College, it became one of the original land-grant schools in 1865. After a disastrous fire in 1912, the State acquired control of the college and paid to rebuild it.

Until the 1988 reorganization of higher education in Maryland, the University of Maryland dated back to a 1920 act of the State legislature that joined the state-owned institution at College Park (UMCP) with the professional schools in Baltimore (UMAB). Three other campuses were added later: Baltimore County (UMBC), Eastern Shore (UMES), and University College (UMUC), the worldwide campus headquartered in College Park.

July 1, 1988 marked the end of one era in public higher education in the State of Maryland and the dawn of another. In April, 1988 the State Legislature passed Senate Bill 459, the 1988 Action Plan for Higher Education. As a result, the five campuses comprising the former University of Maryland were merged with six institutions of the Maryland Board of Trustees of State Universities and Colleges. The new University of Maryland System was officially born on July 1, and as part of the law that created the new system, the State designated College Park as the flagship campus of the state.

The Faculty

The reputation of any major university is based on the caliber of its faculty. College Park faculty are leaders in their fields, as confirmed by the impressive number of Pulitzer Prizes, Guggenheim Fellowships and National Medals of Science awarded to them. Faculty here have pioneered the use of lasers in the operating room, written the definitive biographies of William Shakespeare and black educator Booker T. Washington, and founded a campus chorus that is internationally acclaimed. Undergraduates can work directly with these experts - from their very first term at College Park to their last. The student to teacher ratio is approximately 16 to 1 - as low as that at many small colleges. College Park professors will challenge you to think, to question assumptions and assertions, to explore and to discover.

The Students

Maryland students are a diverse group of motivated men and women. And the time they spend outside the classroom is critical to their success. Campus life at College Park means an award-winning student newspaper and FM radio station, championship athletic teams and intramural sports programs, Phi Beta Kappa and professional societies, and a University Theatre hailed by The Washington Post as one of the best in the metropolitan area.

The Locale

Nine miles from the nation's capital, College Park sits at the doorstep of some of the country's most important landmarks and institutions - from the United States Senate and the Smithsonian to the Library of Congress and the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. College Park is only a short drive from Baltimore - a great historical city and center of commerce, famed for its arts and architecture, new National Aquarium and colorful Inner Harbor. College Park's relationship with these two exceptional cities is not just one of proximity. Undergraduates receive hands-on experience at some of our most prominent agencies and governmental institutions - including NASA, the National Archives, and Congress itself. Because of its unique location College Park is also able to draw upon Nobel Prize winners, cabinet members, and internationally renowned scientists, artists, and writers who come to the campus to share their knowledge.

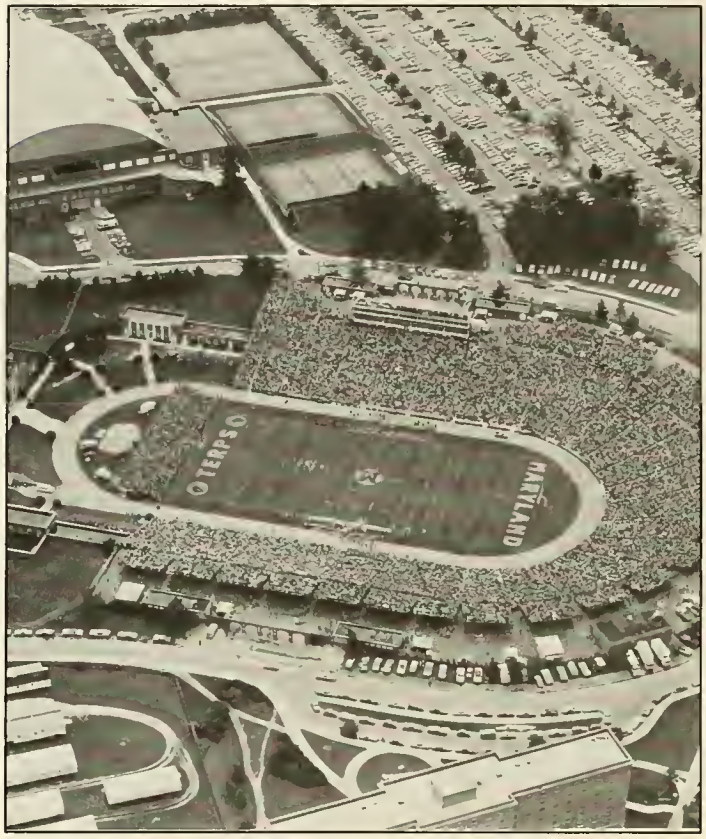
Byrd Stadium

Dedicated in 1950, Byrd Stadium has been home to national championship football, field hockey and lacrosse teams, and to 56 ACC Track and Field champions. It hosted the Oueen of England at a football game in 1957, and was the stage where the fastest hurdler in history, Renaldo Nehemiah, performed his wonders. NCAA Championships in men's and women's lacrosse have been held there, and in May every attendance record for the sport was broken when over 44,000 watched the Final Four of men's lacrosse. Many of the great moments in Maryland prep school history happened there, was well as the Special Olympics and The Maryland State Games. Byrd Stadium is a Maryland tradition.

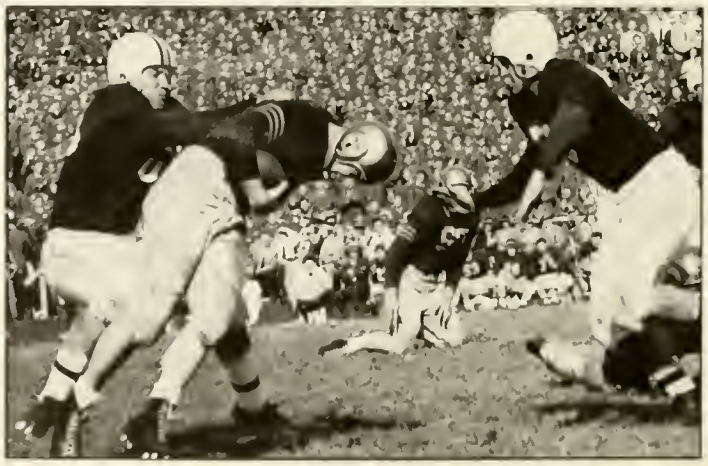
Funds are being raised through The Maryland Partnership, a matching gift program between the state and friends of Maryland Athletics, to refurbish the entire Byrd Stadium complex, including the Football Team House.

Named after Dr. H.C. Byrd, who was both a football coach and college president, the stadium was part of the enormous post-World War II expansion of the University overseen by Byrd and Dr. Wilson Elkins.

The stadium presently seats 41,000, but with temporary seating placed in the end zones and around the top of the bowl, up to 58,973 (Penn State, Nov. 1, 1975) have witnessed games there. Byrd Stadium was thought to be in the first phase of construction when it opened. Seating was to have been expanded to 92,000 seats by doubledecking the stadium and enclosing the open end of the horseshoe with seating. Today's plans at refurbishment contain no plans for expanded seating.



The opening of Byrd Stadium, Sept. 30, 1950, was accompanied by cheers and a victory over Navy.



Terp Traditions

Testudo, a Diamondback Turtle whose name is derived from the scientific classification for turtle (testudines), is the mascot of the University of Maryland. Testudo's flight to become official mascot was (there is no other description) slow. But once on top, Testudo has reigned with a bronze-like grip, peering at generations of younger Terps crossing in front of, or entering, the Theodore R. McKeldin Library in the heart of the College Park campus. The 500 pound terrapin's days of roving to conquer rival campuses at the behest of the College Park student body are over, his undisturbed regal bearing insured by his being bolted to a concrete throne.

The need for a mascot was essential in the early 1920s in a world littered with Wildcats, Tigers, Devils, Wolves, Bears, and all sorts of traditional names derived from a half-century of college athletics. Maryland was consolidated from different state schools in 1920 to form the base of today's wide-ranging state system and it needed a flag-carrier to do battle with Wahoos, Lions, and Generals.

Dr. H.C. Byrd, the University President in 1922, recommended the Diamondback as mascot in response to the student newspaper's search for an "official" leader. Although his suggestion was, indeed, "official," there were some who resisted, opting for the older and historically entrenched term, Old-Liners. A label derived from the Revolutionary War when Maryland soldiers earned the accolade for bravery and perseverence in the face of British troops, Old-Liners had a more vocal lobby than the speechless turtle.

By 1935, however, the Yearbook had changed its name from Reveille to Terrapin by a vote of the student body, and save for some splintered resistance, Testudo's family had won. Newspapers, even then exploring every angle, shortened Terrapin to Terp, but Testudo by any name is still a turtle.

Samuel P. Gorham of Providence, R.I., cast Testudo in bronze at the request of the Class of 1933. He was modeled after a feisty Diamondback that came from Dr. Byrd's hometown of Crisfield. Dr. Byrd's choice of mascot was not intended to reflect the docility of Maryland teams. As a small boy near his home he surely found out what so many others have discovered about Terrapins — they bite.

Colors

The colors of the University of Maryland are those of the state flag—gold, red, black and white.

Maryland's flag bears the arms of the Calvert and Crossland families. Calvert was the family name of the Lords Baltimore who founded Maryland, and their colors of gold and black appear in the first and fourth quarters of the flag. Crossland was the family of the mother of George Calvert, first Lord Baltimore. The red and white Crossland colors, with a Greek cross terminating in the foils, appear in the second and third quarters. The flag was first flown in its present form October 25, 1888, at Gettysburg Battlefield for ceremonies dedicating monuments to Maryland regiments of the Army of the Potomac. It was offically adopted in 1904. Maryland law requires that if any ornament is affixed to the top of a flagstaff carrying the Maryland flag, the ornament must be a gold cross bottony.

Testudo

Like the long trek of Testudo to become mascot, the trip for these colors to arrive as "official" was marked by factionalism. By the post World War II years, there was disgruntlement from the press and others that Maryland's fooball uniforms were difficult to read, and Old Gold and Black were deemed the colors, even though red had been an official color. By the time of Coach Jim Tatum's matchless era of success, which included a National Championship in 1953, the football team was back in red. Today's Maryland football teams incorporate all the colors of the state flag, although the predominate University of Maryland "fight" color is red.

Football in College Park

Football was recognized as an official school athletic function in 1892 when Maryland in College Park was the Maryland Agricultural College. It was played as early as 1889 in an era of informality, 33 years after the Agricultural College's founding.

The following excerpt from A History of the University of Maryland concerns these times before the University in Baltimore and College Park were consolidated to form the present state system. It is written from the perspective of the University in Baltimore. "Intercollegiate athletics has facilitated the development of many academic institutions, and at Maryland the new spirit was expressed in a football yell. In 1895 a medical school student named Norfleet Gibbs organized a medical-dental-law school football team that defeated Baltimore City College twice and lost to St. John's. The uniforms were a motley array of padded clothes with the letter M painted on the shirts, but the players were immediately heroes, and for the first time the students in the various schools felt a sense of unity. Students and faculty formed an athletic association; the professors paid for real uniforms; teams of baseball, ice hockey, track and basketball appeared; and friends of the Univeristy began reading about the institution in newspaper sports pages. Since many of the University players were much older than regular college students, there was difficulty finding opponents at first; but the University's approximately even won-lost record soon attracted such schools as the Maryland Agricultural College, St. John's, Navy, Georgetown and, occasionally, such distant schools as Rutgers and North Carolina. The greatest sports rival was Johns Hopkins, and contests with it in any sport attracted throngs of students, faculty and alumni. When a dental department professor won a prize at a state exhibition for a set of plates made of maroon and black rubber, the University teams adopted those colors as theirs. Freshmen received a pamphlet of University cheers to memorize, and frequently faculty members led the cheers: "Rif! Raf! Ruf!—Rif! Raf! Ruf!— University of Maryland!— Pretty Hot stuff!!!"

The cheer is no longer used.

The Agricultural College was renamed Maryland State College in 1916, and in 1920 that school merged with Baltimore to form what is today's state-wide University of Maryland. Football was played continuously through the name changes in College Park.

Joe Krivak's philosophy on coaching, and indeed on life, is reflected in the way he moves from points A to B. He does not walk so much as strides out. There is no affectation. Purposefulness, yes, and directness, but no bull and excess glitter are in him. He is a unique combination of strength and truth, his humility underlining his credibility.

When Joe Krivak accepted the head coaching job at Maryland on December 10, 1986, his University was being scrutinized unlike any other. Maryland needed strength, the kind of strength born of expertise and honesty. Maryland has gotten both.

His expertise produced a coaching job in the Atlantic Coast Conference that was exceeded by no one a year ago. Belying its geographical place of being on top of the ACC logo, the Terps were picked in the second division. Further, a schedule that USA Today would rank the third toughest in collegiate football awaited. Through the first eight weeks of the season, Maryland was 5-3 and tied for first in the ACC. The show down for the league title was in College Park Nov. 12, with once beaten Clemson overcoming a halftime Terp lead to win. Elitist stuff for second division prospects.

So Maryland, a proud football school with eight bowl invitations between 1977 and 1987, got a first division ACC finish in Krivak's second season. He came within a two point conversion of finishing in second place. The Terps executed Krivak's sophisticated offense to the tune of 3,885 yards. Krivak and Maryland were in every game, the players and coaches committed to maximum effort. It showed.

Krivak's 1988 did not end with the collegiate season. He saw three of his Maryland quarterbacks—Cincinnati's Boomer Esiason and Buffalo's Stan Gelbaugh and Frank Reich—on the rosters of the AFC Championship game teams. Esiason was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player.

Krivaks' first season, 1987, started with hope and two wins in the first three games. Then injuries and a schedule that had Miami, Penn State, West Virginia and Syracuse as the non-league line-up took its toll. Still, the Terps moved the ball for 3725 yards, taking a lot of real estate while going 4-7.

Krivak's honesty is born of being a successful player at Syracuse in its late 1950s heydays, of being a high school coach for a decade in West Virginia, and of being assistant to come of coaching's brightest minds while at Syracuse, Navy, and Maryland. Krivak's assessments, whether it be on talent or fourth-and-one, are respected.

Krivak's time as assistant at Maryland produced two of his greatest competitive thrills. He was in the press box directing the Terp offense in the 42-40 victory over Miami in 1985 that was the greatest comeback in NCAA history (the Terps were down, 31-0, at the half). He also directed a 28-27 Sun Bowl victory over Tennessee that came after the Terps fell behind, 21-0.

During Krivak's 10 year tenure at Maryland, the Terps are 76-39-2. They won six ACC championships and traveled to seven bowl games. As a Navy assistant, Krivak went to three bowls, and he played in the 1956 Cotton Bowl while at Syracuse.

Krivak was born in Central City, Pennsylvania, on March 20, 1935. His wife, Jean, is a Weirton, West Virginia native. They have three sons, two of whom became Terps. Ed, 26, received his degree in engineering from Maryland in 1987, while earning two letters as a pitcher on the baseball team. Jeff, 21, is a senior at the University, while John, 24, earned four letters while playing on the University of Richmond base ball team.

George Foussekis

Assistant Head Coach Linebackers

Foussekis, who came to College Park in 1972, has been to 11 bowl games as a Terrapin assistant, and he developed some of the best linemen in school history along the way.

He began his coaching career at Virginia Tech in 1969, and worked with the defensive line for two years. In 1971, he served as defensive coordinator at William & Mary, replacing Bobby Ross, a man who would become his boss at Maryland. The next year he became part of the Jerry Claiborne era, and worked with the successful Terp head coach for 10 years. When Clairborne moved to Kentucky, Foussekis stayed to coach under new head man Ross. After five years as his assistant, Foussekis elected to stay on when Joe Krivak was made coach in 1987.

Foussekis numbers standout Terps like Walter White, Lloyd Burrus, Eric Wilson, and Steve Atkins among his recruits. Each moved on to the NFL, and Wilson (first team Fooball News, 1984) and Paul Velland (first team, American Football Coaches Association, 1973) each earned All-America honors.

Specifics: 44 (4-28-45).

Education: B.S. Arts & Sciences, Virginia Tech, 1968.
M.S. Education, Bowie State (Md.) College, 1979.
Played football at Virginia Tech, earning second team All-America honors in 1968 and honorable mention in 1966 and 1967. First team all-Big Five 1966, 1967, 1968. Competed in Liberty Bowl, 1966, and signed with Denver Broncos upon graduation.

Personal: Attended Lane High School in Charlottesville,Va., where he captained the football, basketball and baseball teams. Was first team all-state in football, team won state championship his senior year.

Greg Williams

Assistant Coach Defensive Coordinator Defensive Backs

Williams starts his second season as defensive coordinator and his seventh as defensive backfield coach. The promising secondary in 1989 follows in the footsteps of other units that have produced all-conference players like Clarence Baldwin, and Al and Keeta Covington.

Williams has been both an offensive and defensive coordinator during his coaching career, and at most stops he has enjoyed championship success. He has been part of ACC championships at two schools—once with his alma mater, North Carolina State, and three times with Maryland. His 1989 spring practice went better than his first as defensive coordinator a year ago. He had to install his new defense from a golf cart a year ago due to an off-season racquetball injury.

Specifics: 42 (10-20-46).

Education: B.S. North Carolina State, 1969.
Played football at State, lettering in 1965, 1966, 1967. Played in 1967 Liberty Bowl as defensive back.

Coaching: North Carolina State, Defensive Back Coach as Graduate Assistant, 1969, won ACC title. Youngstown State, Quarterback and Wide Receiver Coach, 1970-1971. University of Tulsa, Defensive Back Coach, 1971-1974, teams won three Missouri Valley titles in four years. Steve Axman

Assistant Coach Quarterbacks

Axman switched coasts to come to Maryland from UCLA to coach the Terp quarterbacks. Axman brings to Maryland experience in designing innovative offenses that have helped build powerhouse programs at each stop along his coaching career. In his most recent position, Axman was UCLA's offensive coordinator, leading the Bruins to a 20-4 record over the past two seasons and appearances in the 1987 Aloha Bowl and the 1988 Cotton Bowl. In addition to his coordinator duties, Axman was quarterbacks coach in 1987, tutoring Troy Aikman, who would go on to be the National Football League's No. 1 draft choice in 1989. Last year, he directed the Bruins offensive line. Axman has built his career directing high-powered offensive attacks, including a one-year stint in the offensive-minded United States Football League with the Denver Gold. While with the Gold, he authored a magazine article titled: "You Can Throw Deep," a philosphy he directed to the field during coaching assignments at Stanford, Arizona and Illinois.

Dennis Murphy

Assistant Coach Defensive Line

Murphy is a motivator whose coaching base of operations broadened two years ago to adjust to a new defensive scheme by the Terps, a multiple look on the frontline. Murphy is in charge of all the down linemen in the formation after having specialized in coaching the defensive guards for four Maryland bowl teams.

An outstanding player at Notre Dame whose post-graduate exploits came not on the professional playing fields, but in the air over Vietnam as a Navy officer. In five years as a Navy Flight Officer, he was decorated five times. On the field, Murphy was good enough to play in the North-South Shrine game and earn a contract with the Los Angeles Rams.

Murphy's experience includes Division I stints as both offensive and defensive coordinator, and he has helped nine teams reach bowls during his career. Murphy earned a master's degree at Notre Dame while performing his coaching duties.

Paul Tortorella

Assistant Coach Special Teams

After a season as a volunteer assistant coach and three years on the Maryland staff, Tortorella assumes the coaching responsibilities this season of the Terps' special teams. A year ago, Tortorella assisted Jeff Mann with the tight ends and special teams. Now that Mann has become the Terps administrative assistant, Tortorella will direct the special teams effort. He will be charged with revamping segment of the team that must replace All-Atlantic Coast Conference kicker Dan Plocki. The kickoff and placekicking jobs, in fact, will not be assigned until the fall. Tortorella first came to College Park in 1986 as a graduate assistant coach. He worked extensively with all phases of the defense — coordinating the defensive scout team and assisting the defensive coordinator. He assisted with on-campus recruiting and campus visits, and this year will take the road for the first time with the Terps' other assistants on the recruiting trail. Prior to coming to Maryland, he was defensive coordinator at Mt. Lebanon High School, Pittsburgh, PA., for one season, and a student assistant coach at his alma mater, Slippery Rock University, for a season

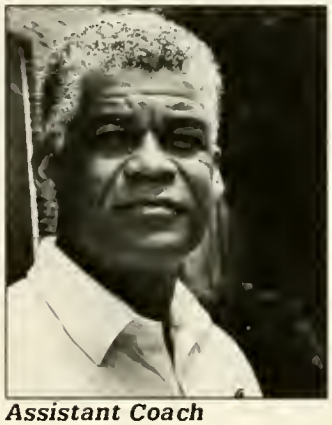
Dick Portee



Assistant Coach Receivers

Portee's view of the Maryland program is unique. He enters his second season as receivers coach, and his charges a year ago were exceptional. A defensive coach for five years before that, he coached the outside linebackers. When he came to Maryland in 1982, he not only had on-field coaching and recruiting duties, but was in charge of film exchange and eligibility as well.

Portee's first job in coaching was at his alma mater, Eisenhower High School, Decatur, IL (1965-69). He then went to Illinois State University in 1969 as freshman coach and served as defensive coordinator and the defensive secondary coach. He was named Assistant Athletic Director in charge of eligibility and also coached the offensive backfield and wide receivers in those five years at Illinois State, 1969-76. While there, he was also a member of the faculty.

In 1976, he went to Cornell where he was secondary coach through the 1977-81 seasons.

His willingness to get involved in a variety of areas has followed him to Maryland.

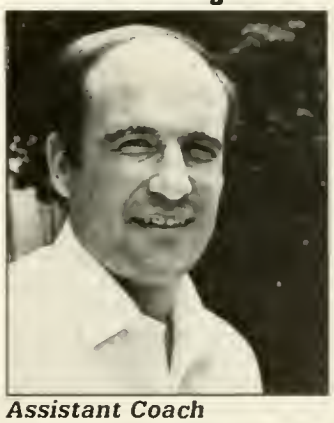
Kurt Van Valkenburgh



Assistant Coach Defensive Ends

Kurt Van Valkenburgh joined Maryland's staff in 1986 after serving as defensive coordinator at Vanderbilt and secondary coach at Virginia. He directs the defensive ends who fill the role of outside linebackers in the scheme of the Terp playbook.

Van Valkenburgh has spent the best portion of his 16 years as coach directing linebackers and the secondary. He coached

Paul Lawlor, who led the nation in interceptions, while at Colgate. His Vanderbilt secondary set a school record for interceptions, and the Commodores went to the Hall of Fame Bowl while he was in Nashville. Vandy defensive back Leonard Coleman was a first round pick in 1982 after working under Van Valkenburgh.

Tony Whittlesey

Assistant Coach Running Backs

Tony Whittlesey came home in 1987 when Head Coach Joe Krivak made hiring him his first order of personnel business. Whittlesey is from Kensington Md., and went to St. John's prepatory school in Washington where he was an outstanding two-sport athlete. He coached with Krivak from 1978-1981 when both were at the Naval Academy.

Whittlesey also had a Maryland connection when he went to DePauw in Indiana. He played under former Terp Head Coach Tommy Mont and stayed on to earn a master's degree while serving as a graduate assistant. Soon after leaving DePauw, Whittlesey became a 27-year-old head coach when he was appointed at Bluffton College in Ohio.

Coming home for Whittlesey also meant living near his parents who still reside in Kensington. His father, Merrell, was a Washington Star sportswriter on the college beat, covering Maryland athletics for many years.

Specifics: 42 (10-2-46).

MEDICAL STAFF

Dr. Stan Lavine

Team Physician

Dr. Lavine's role at Maryland has been to make the Terrapins go, whether as an undergraduate standout in football, or as the team physician for almost three decades.

A native of Pittsburgh where he attended Schenley High School, Dr. Lavine matriculated at Maryland to prepare for his medical career, and played initially for the immortal Clark Shaughnesy, one of football's great innovators. By the time of his 1950 graduation, he had led Maryland under Head Coach Jim Tatum to a 9-1 record and a 20-7 win over Missouri in the Gator Bowl as the team's quarterback. After graduating from the University's Medical School, he interned in hospitals in Philadelphia and Cleveland, served two years in the Air Force, and then began his orthopedic medical practice and work with Maryland's athletic teams.

Dr. Lavine attends all football games, home basketball games and some road games, and he is on call at all times for the athletes on the University's 23 sports teams. His professional reputation is national in scope, and many prominent athletes have sought his treatment. He was team physician for the Washington Redskins (1975-1985), and was there for two Super Bowls. He was the team physician for the Washington Bullets when they won the NBA Championship. He is the team physician for the Washington Diplomats soccer team. He presentley works at Sibley Hospital in Washington, D.C.

J.J. Bush

Head Trainer

A well-known advocate in Maryland for improved training techniques at all levels of competition, J.J. Bush came to the University in 1972 and was appointed head trainer in 1978. He has the overall responsibility for 23 sports, and in the autumn concentrates on the football program.

His time in College Park has allowed him to spread the word around the state on improved training methods and organization. He is active in the National Athletic Trainers Accociation, with accentuation on improving techniques on the high school level. He was appointed District III representative to the Association's Committee on Licensure in 1981. He was also elected President that year of the Maryland Athletic Trainers Association, a group he helped found in 1980. He has also hosted several Cramer Student Trainer Workshops at the University.

He came to Maryland after serving in the Airborne Rangers of the U.S. Army.

Major: Education
High School: Gilman School

At Maryland: The anchor of the line, every offensive snap accomplished by Maryland in 1988 was started by Agent ... With his selection as a captain, he goes beyond being a consistent starter with strong post-season honors credentials to a team leader ... He started 26 games over three seasons going into 1989.

1988: Agent was the only offensive lineman on the field for every snap ... He and Neil O'Donnell formed the battery of a unit that produced 3886 yards of total offense, and paced Maryland to an unexpected run at the ACC title.

1987: A transition season for Agent, he was used at both tackle, where he started in 1986, and center ... He was starting left tackle in four games.

1986: The only freshman to start every game, he was the team's left tackle.

1985: A redshirt year.

At Gilman School: Agent was an All-America prep as a senior center, and he lettered in basketball and track and field ... He was MSA shot put champion, and came out of high school as a highly recruited football player.

At Maryland: Moving steadily up the ladder of the depth chart, Whittier comes to his final year having earned first team ... As a redshirt freshman he was a special teams hit; his sophomore year saw action for the first time at inside linebacker, and last year he was one of three athletes to record the majority of playing time at the two inside slots.

1988: A starter in nine of 11 games, Whittier's way was opened by injury to veteran Co-Captain Matt D'Amico ... Whittier responded to his chance by recording 73 tackles, a pass defelction, a fumble recovery and another fumble forced by him ... He, D'Amico and Scott Saylor became an inside troika that accounted for 269 tackles ... In his first varsity start against Louisville he had seven tackles (5-2) ... His career high in tackles came at Duke when he had 16 hits (a career high 12 first hits) ... He followed that a week later with a 10 tackles (6-4) effort at North Carolina, and seven days later 10 tackles at Penn State (7-3) ... He continued a strong finish to the year with eight tackles (3-5) against Clemson and six tackles (5-1) at Virginia.

1987: Received the Outstanding Special Teams Performer Award because of his 16 special team tackles, 14 first hits ... For the year he had 26 tackles, his best game coming against Clemson when he had eight tackles (6-2) and an interception.

1986: Lettered as a special teams standout during his first season, recording 10 tackles, nine of them first hits.

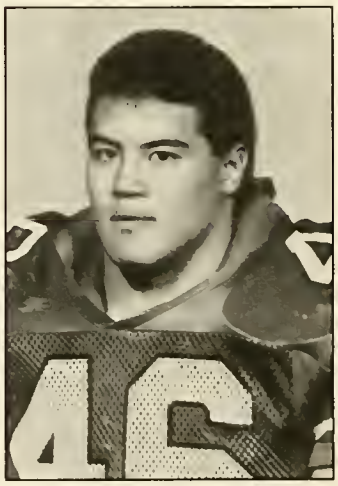
1985: A redshirt year.

At Kempsville: All-state and all-district in football and all-state in wrestling, Whittier captained both teams in his senior year ... Both teams were runner-up for the state championship in his senior year ... A linebacker and tight end.

Personal: Father, Allen, played at Virginia Tech, then went on to play for the New Orleans Saints and in Canada ... Born 4/8/67. Scott is the son of Peggy and Allen Whittier.

Terpstats

1986:	10 tackles	(9-1)
1987:	26 tackles	(16-10)
1988:	73 tackles	(47-26)
Totals	109 tackles	(72-37)



Scott Saylor

Linebacker
Sr. 6-1 234
Pen Argyl, PA
High School: Pen Argyl

At Maryland: A middle linebacker who has indeed been in the middle of the defense, recording a team high 119 tackles a year ago despite seeing limited time in the last four games due to injury ... Saylor had two fumble forces, one tackle for a loss, and two pass deflections ... He started the year as the leading returning tackler from 1987 when he had 122 hits ... His prolific tackling numbers reflect his value to the team.

1988: Saylor tied his career high of 22 tackles against North Carolina State; included in the total was a career high 13 initial hits ... Before being hurt later in the year at Duke, he had garnered the following numbers: Louisville, nine tackles (3-6), one pass break up; West Virginia, 12 tackles (9-3); Syracuse, 12 tackles (5-7), one pass break up, caused one fumble, one tackle for a loss, one tackle for no gain; Georgia Tech, 13 tackles (6-7); Wake Forest, eight tackles (4-4); Duke, 12 tackles (3-9), one interception ... His homecoming to Pennsylvania at State College in the season's ninth game was eliminated due to a knee injury, and he did not make another tackle until the season's final game at Virginia (4-10).

1987: The redshirt sophomore was forced to develop early in the season as injuries forced him into a key role against North Carolina State (22 tackles, 12 initial hits) and Miami (14 tackles) in his first start ... He was a year long standout on special teams, making 11 tackles

1986: He lettered as a member of special teams, getting 16 hits on the bomb squad, nine of them initial tackles.

1985: A redshirt year.

At Pen Argyl: A four-year letterman in football, he earned all-state at linebacker ... He was team captain as a senior running back and linebacker ... Also a sprinter on the track team ... Captained the Lehigh Valley all-stars and played in the Big 33 Game against Maryland's best preps.

Personal: Brother Mike played for Boston College ... Born 7/7/67. Scott is the son of Nancy and Arthur Saylor.

Mike Anderson

Running Back
Sr. 5-10 191
Capitol Heights, MD
Major: Economics
High School: DeMatha

At Maryland: Did not play last season and saw only limited action in 1987 while battling leukemia ... The disease was first diagnosed prior to the 1987 season and he underwent treatments and hospitalization at that time ... He did return to play with the team that season and has practiced with the team when able since, all the while being one of the squad's most vocal supporters ... Coach Krivak allows Anderson to set his own practice schedule ... When healthy, he is one of the team's most versatile backs and one of its top kick and punt returners ... Though under 200 pounds, he is extremely strong, benching 275 and squatting 500 pounds during the spring ... He also runs a 4.6 40 yard dash ... He has rushed for 216 yards during his Maryland career on 64 carries (3.4 yards per carry) and has scored three touchdowns ... He has almost 500 yards in kick returns (474 on 27 returns), 178 yards of punt returns and 76 reception yards ... With the loss to injury of Andre Vaughn and the transfer of Mike Beasley, Anderson could play a big role for the Terps this season.

1988: A redshirt year.

1987: Battled back from cancer treatments to rejoin his team in the third game of the season against West Virginia ... His third period entrance to return a punt was greeted by a standing ovation by the 40,125 fans in attendance ... Those same fans again gave a standing "O" after his 11-yard return was followed by rushing gains of four yards and two yards on the ensuing two plays ... In the lockerroom after the game, Krivak and the team gave Anderson the game ball in an emotional presentation ... His first start came against Wake Forest, against whom he scored the game's first touchdown on an 18-yard run in the second quarter and set up another with a 39-yard punt return later in that quarter ... Maryland went on to win that game, 14-0 ... He later scored on a 13-yard run against Miami, a team who he pummeled for 46 yards rushing and another 48 in returns ... That season he also started the North Carolina and Duke games, scoring his third and final TD of the season against the Blue Devils.

1986: Played in 10 games, mainly as a return specialist and special teams defensive star ... He averaged 18.6 yards per kickoff return, taking 13 returns 242 yards ... He also returned punts, averaging 15.5 yards on his eight returns ... Of those 124 yards in punt returns, 43 came on a single run against Penn State, and that return is his career best ... As a running back, he rushed eight times for 16 yards ... On special teams, he had eight tackles, with seven first hits.

1985: One of the few Terps to play as a true freshman ... He played in nine games, including the Cherry Bowl, rushing for 38 yards on 15 carries ... He also played special teams, registering nine tackles with eight first hits.

At DeMatha: An all-around star, lettering four times in football, three times in basketball and twice in track as a sprinter ... He was a member of USA Today's "Fabulous 44" High School All-Academic Team ... In 1983 and 1984, he was an honorable mention pick on the all-USA football lists of the Pigskin Club and the Washington Post ... In 1984, he was the Offensive Player of the Year by both the Prince George's Journal and the Sentinel newspaper, while earning all-Metropolitan acclaim by WDVM-TV and WRC-TV.

Personal: Born 5/17/67 ... He is the son of Elois and Norman Anderson ... Elois was a basketball player at Virginia State and Norman played football at Hampton Institute ... In 1988, Anderson was given the Lombardi Award Of Courage, a national award given annually to a football player fighting cancer. Prior to Anderson's selection, the award had been given twice to players in the National Football League.

Kevin Arline

Nose Guard
Fr. 6-0 267
Somerset, NJ
Major: Undergraduate Studies
High School: Franklin

At Maryland: Settled in at nose guard during the spring after spending last season at various positions on the defensive line for the scout team ... Coaches will give Arline additional time at nose guard, but also may experiment with him on the offensive line this season.

1988: A redshirt year.

At Franklin: Arline was a three-year letterman in football and wrestling, serving as captain of both squads as a senior ... He received New Jersey Governor Thomas Kean's award for excellence in athletics as a senior, while also earning distinction as Franklin's outstanding male athlete ... Not surprisingly, he earned the George E. Dumas Memorial Trophy as the team's outstanding lineman, playing both ways at tackle ... He was named to the New York Daily News tri-state all-star team, as well as being named first team all-state offensive tackle by the Newark Star-Ledger and the Somerset Home News ... Arline also was Franklin's outstanding wrestler as a senior, concluding his final prep season with a 27-3 record ... In addition to his athletic achievements, Arline was active in Franklin's PUSH program, an organization which works to fight teen alcohol and drug abuse.

Personal: Born 6/1/70 ... Kevin is the son of Mamie and Richard Arline.

Marcus Badgett

Wide Receiver
Fr. 6-0 180
Elizabeth, NJ
Major: Undergraduate Studies
High School: Elizabeth

At Maryland: One of the fastest Terrapins ... Has a constant 4.5/4.7 time in the 40-yard sprint ... Gives the Terps, along with returnees and newcomers, excellent outside receiver speed ... Marcus had an impressive spring practice and will lend the important depth needed ... He has worked hard to get bigger and stronger ... Came in last fall at 165 and was 180 at the close of spring practice ... Has the label of having a "good chance" as the '89 season approaches ... Started for the White team in the Red/White spring game ... Was the game's second leading leading receiver with four catches for 40 yards and a long of 15.

1988: A redshirt year.

At Elizabeth: A three sport letterman, three years as basketball guard; two letters as wide receiver; and two as a dash man on the track team ... Captained the basketball and track teams his senior year ... Was first team all-Union County receiver his senior year, '88 ... He was MVP of the state championship basketball team as he led the team to a season 27-2 record ... The track team won the state title, as well ... His track coach was Dave Costello, brother of Terps' strength and conditioning coach Frank Costello.

Personal: Born 2/9/70. Marcus is the son of Maylene and Lendsey Badgett.

Mike Anderson (31)

Tim Baker

Linebacker
Fr. 6-2 216
Maitland, FL
Major: Pre-Business
High School: Lake Highland

At Maryland: An outside linebacker who has impressed coaches in his limited time on the College Park campus ... Baker's intensity draws plaudits from all the coaches and probably will earn him a special teams assignment this year ... While this year's outside linebacking corps is considered one of the Terps deepest areas, Baker certainly could be an all-star candidate there in the years to come.

1988: A redshirt year.

At Lake Highland: Baker was a three-time all-conference player and was a first team all-state selection in 1987 .. He was Lake Highland's Most Valuable Player and Linebacker of the Year in 1987, winning the team's Golden Helmet Award ... He earned four letters each in football, track and weightlifting, and he was a member of the school's National Honor Society ... He also served as Homecoming King his senior year.

Personal: Born 6/15/70 in Winter Park, Florida ... He is the son of Mary and Richard Barnett.

Bret Boehly

Tight End
Jr. 6-4 240
McLean, VA
Major: Pre-Business
High School: Langley

At Maryland: Is expected to compete with David Carr for the starting tight end position ... He finished spring ball in a dead heat with Carr for the position ... He has good size and speed, running a 4.8 40 yard dash, and is one of the top blockers among the Terp tight end candidates.

1988: Was the expected starter at the beginning of the year, but severely sprained his right ankle before the opener and missed a major portion of the season ... He did return late in the year and played in three games, grabbing three catches for 29 yards ... His long reception of the year was a 15 yarder at North Carolina.

1987: Saw limited action as a true freshman, playing in eight games ... He was a back-up tight end to All-ACC tight end Ferrell Edmunds and caught one pass for three yards ... He also played on special teams

At Langley: Selected Langley Athlete of the Year as a senior, after a prep career which saw him earn letters in football, basketball and baseball ... He was captain of all three teams as a senior ... In football, he played tight end, linebacker, and placekicker, earning all-district and all-region honors in the process ... He also was all-district in basketball and all-region in baseball ... Boehly played on one district basketball team and two baseball teams which won the district crown.

Personal: Born 11/4/68 ... He is the son of Sandra and William Boehly.

Jack Bradford

Linebacker
Jr. 6-1 219
Major: Agriculture Econ.
High School: Wilde Lake

At Maryland: Has the potential to be among the ACC's best.

1988: After adjusting to starting life through the first two games of the season, Bradford burst upon the defensive scene with two big games ... Against North Carolina State, he had five initial hits, including two tackles for losses, a sack, and a recovered fumble ... In the next game at Syracuse, he had a career high seven+ initial hits (7-1), a tackle for a loss, a sack, and a hurry ... His high tackle total was 13+ (five initial hits) at Virginia; he also had a sack.

Yearly Totals: 31 first hits, 39 assists, four sacks, two tackles for losses, one fumble recovery

1987: Bradford began the year being switched from linebacker to fullback; he ended the season at linebacker ... Had six carries for 35 yards (5.8 avg.), including a 17 yard rush ... Defensively, he had six tackles, plus seven more earned on special teams.

At Wilde Lake: An All-Metro selection as a fullback-linebacker at Wilde Lake, Bradford's atheltic abilities extended to track and field where he was a quality prep high jumper, long jumper and triple jumper. Wilde Lake was the state champion in football his senior year, when he also served as captain.

Personal: Born: 5-6-68. Jack is the son ofRev. and Carolyn Bradford.

Hugh Brown

Linebacker
So. 6-0 222
Stafford, VA
Major: Economics
High School: North Stafford

At Maryland: Inside linebacker who saw frequent playing time last year as a redshirt freshman ... He will bolster a position weakened by the graduation of starting inside linebacker Matt D'Amico ... He concluded the spring as the No. 2 rightside linebacker behind tri-captain Scott Saylor ... will continue to be a regular on the Terps special team coverage.

1988: Brown played in six games, recording 15 tackles (five unassisted) ... He had a big game at Duke, with four game tackles and two others on special teams ... He had two tackles and two assists in his first extensive action of the season at West Virginia.

1987: A redshirt year.

At North Stafford: Lettered three times and was captain ... Second sport on prep level was power lifting where he was the high school state heavyweight champion for three straight years .. As a football player, Brown was all-District two years, and all-region as a senior ... He was selected his team's best player as a junior and senior linebacker ... Holds the state record in power lifting for the squat in the 220 pound class (565 pounds).

Personal: Born 11/20/68. Hugh is the son of Judith and Paul Brown. Sisters Cathy and Christy both play prep field hockey, with Cathy playing for the state championship team in 1988.

David Carr

Tight End
Sr. 6-5 228
Reisterstown, MD
Major: Business
High School: Franklin Senior

At Maryland: Locked in a battle with Bret Boehly for the starting tight end position after the spring ... Regardless of who is the starter, though, Carr figures to see a lot of playing time this season ... He has the size and strength to be an impressive blocker on the offensive line, and he runs precise patterns and has soft hands like a wide receiver ... He has been clocked under five seconds in the 40.

1988: Played in nine games, starting five ... He finished the season with 15 receptions — the sixth most on the team and tops among tight ends — for 206 yards ... His 13.7 average was the fifth best per catch mark on the team and his average of 22.9 yards per game was No. 3 among the receivers ... Against North Carolina, he hooked up with Neil O'Donnell on a 21-yard, fourth-quarter touchdown pass which helped vault the Terps to the exciting win ... That catch was his second longest of the year, after a 32-yard strike from O'Donnell against N.C. State ... His best game of the season came against Duke, when he caught a season-high-tying three passes for a season best 47 yards.

1987: Sat out under NCAA transfer guidelines after a two-season stint at East Carolina University.

At Franklin: A four-sport letterwinner, earning distinction in football, baseball, basketball and soccer...He led Franklin to the 1984 county title, earning all-county and all-Metro recognition in the process...He played in the prestigious Big 33 Game following his senior season.

Personal: Born 4/30/67... David is the son of Anna Marie and Paul Carr.

Doug Charland

Offensive Lineman
Fr. 6-3 235
Steubenville, OH
Major: Electrical Engineering
High School: Steubenville

At Maryland: Missed his entire freshman year following surgery on right knee ... Was not able to practice all season ... Also missed this spring practice while he continued his recuperative treatments ... Was a freshman linebacker prospect, but will be moved to the offensive line in his hopeful return to practice this fall

1988: A redshirt year

At Steubenville: A two-sport star, lettering twice in football and four times in track ... Helped lead his team to the state finals, finishing as runner-up in 1987 with a 12-2 record ... Was captain of the track team as a junior and senior ... Finished in the upper fourth of his class ... Was president of the Spanish Club and a member of the Key Club.

Personal: Born 2/22/70. Doug is the son of Jeanne and Neil Charland

Darren Colvin

Fullback
Fr. 6-1 248
Belcamp, MD
Major: Biology
High School: Aberdeen

At Maryland: A big, bruising back who impressed the Terp coaches in the spring ... He finished the spring as the No. 1 fullback, though last year's starter, Dennis Spinelli, was injured during the spring and saw only limited action ... Nevertheless, even if Colvin doesn't start, his play in the spring will warrant playing time for him this fall ... He is tremendously strong, benching 365 pounds in the spring and squatting an incredible 715 pounds — close to three times his weight ... Despite his size, he has 4.8 40-yard-dash speed ... He has excellent hands coming out of the backfield as a receiver, proving that in the spring game with three catches for 22 yards.

1988: A redshirt year.

At Aberdeen: Co-captain of the 1987 squad that he led to the Harford County Championship with a 9-1 record ... He was an all-county selection as a junior and senior and an all-Metro pick as a senior and played in the Big 33 Game ... He also earned all-county honors in basketball ... Colvin was a high school teammate to current Maryland teammate Karl Edwards.

Personal: Born 1/20/70 ... Darren is the son of Hazel and Willie Colvin.

Joe Cooper

Tight End
Fr. 6-5 229
Lykens, PA
Major: Arts & Humanities
High School: Upper Dauphin

At Maryland: High school quarterback turned tight end, he used last year to learn the position ... He has good size and speed and strong work habits ... Given the depth at tight end, he will be able to be brought along slowly, but still is expected to contribute this season.

1988: A redshirt year.

At Upper Dauphin: A true scholar-athlete, he excelled on and off the field ... Cooper was the 1987 third team all-state quarterback while earning first team all-conference recognition ... As a junior, he was the Twin Valley Conference's Offensive Player of the Year, leading his team to the conference and class C-II titles ... He also was an all-conference basketball player and honorable mention all-state hoops player ... He earned four letters in football and three in basketball ... Off the field/court, he was a honor roll student and member of the National Honor Society.

Personal: Born 12/29/69 ... Joe is the son of Joyce and Jerald Cooper.

Dan DeArmas

Punter/Kicker
So. 5-10 201
Miami, FL
Major: Undergraduate Studies
High School: Christopher Columbus

At Maryland: DeArmas returns for his second season as the Terrapins' punter ... He is the first non-walk-on punter for the Terps in recent memory ... DeArmas has been experimenting at the placekicking chores as well, handling some of the placekicking duties during the 1989 spring practice.

1988: In 11 games, he averaged 36.9 yards/punt ... Had no punts blocked in his first year of kicking for Maryland ... Seven times he landed punts inside the opponents 20-yard line ... His longest, a 55-yarder, came in the first game of the season against Louisville.

At Christopher Columbus: An all-star punter out of high school ... He was named second team All-State following his senior season ... Named All-City, All-Area, and All-County as a junior and senior ... His team won the district, regional and sectional championships with an 8-4 record in 1987 ... His senior year, he had a 42-yard average with a 4.5 second hang time ... His longest punt was a 72 yards and best hang time was 5.1 seconds.

Personal: Born 10/26/69... Dan is the son of Cary and Daniel DeArmas.

Dave deBruin

Defensive Tackle
So. 6-4 233
Akron, OH
Major: Undergraduate Studies
High School: Copley

At Maryland: Moved to the defensive line in the spring and showed enormous potential ... Because of injuries to the defensive tackles in the spring, deBruin had the opportunity to get more repetitions than originally expected, and his performance improved steadily ... with some additional weight and strength, coaches might like to experiment with him on the offensive line as well.

1988: Played on the scout team at linebacker ... He saw only limited duty during the season.

1987: A redshirt year.

At Copley: A three-sport letterman in football, baseball and track ... He led the football team to league titles in 1984 and 1985 and the baseball team to the league championship in 1986 ... He was an all-state selection at linebacker and tight end.

Personal: Born 10/6/68 ... Dave is the son of Elizabeth and Walter deBruin ... Walter played football at Ohio State.

James DeMoss

Defensive Back
Sr. 5-7 173
Baltimore, MD
Major: Urban Studies
High School: Calvert Hall

At Maryland: Four-year member of the football squad ... He has throughout his career sacrificed personal achievements for the good of the team, playing on scout teams and seeing limited duty on special teams.

At Calvert Hall:Lettered for three years in football and for two inbaseball ... Member of Honor Society and was a class officer.

Personal: Born 8/25/67. James is the son of Penelope Lawson.

Phil DiMaria

Linebacker
Fr. 6-2 227
Glenside, PA
Major: Criminal Justice
High School: Bishop McDevitt

At Maryland: Is a young, aggressive linebacker who thoroughly impressed coaches last year on the scout team and this past spring ... He ran third or fourth most of the spring at left inside linebacker ... DiMaria will be a key special teams player this season and will also be among the half dozen inside linebackers to whom the Terps will turn throughout the season ... He squatted 617 pounds and benched 295 during the spring.

1988: A redshirt year.

At Bishop McDevitt: A two-sport star in football and track ... DiMaria led Bishop McDevitt to consecutive Catholic League titles in 1986 (with a 12-0 record) and 1987 (with an 11-0 slate), while garnering second team all-state and first team all-county, all-city and all-League honors along the way ... In track, he was a first team all-Catholic League performer ... DiMaria and Terps defensive back Mike Thomas were high school teammates.

Personal: Born 6/11/70. ... Phil is the son of Carolyn and Louis DiMaria

Dan D'Orazio

Placekicker
Fr. 5-7 158
Media, PA
Major: Pre-Business
High School: Cardinal O'Hara

At Maryland: A redshirt in 1988, D'Orazio is one of a number of candidates competing for the placekicking duties, left open by the graduation of Dan Plocki.

At Cardinal O'Hara: A two-sport standout athlete in both football and soccer ... Was a first team All-City and All-Area selection in 1987 and second team All-City as a junior in 1986 ... D'Orazio was named All-Catholic and All-Delco three consecutive years (1985, 1986, 1987) ... Was named Team's Outstanding and Most Valuable Player as a sophomore, junior and senior ... Twice named Philadelphia Inquirer Player of the Week in 1987 ... He was a three-year letterwinner in soccer, team captain as a senior and Honorable Mention All-Catholic in 1987

Personal: Born 6/7/69. Dan is the son of Anita and Theodore D'Orazio.

Darren Drozdov

Defensive Guard
So. 6-3 259
Mays Landing, NJ
Major: Undergraduate Studies
High School: Oakrest
College Prep: Fork Union Military Academy

At Maryland: Though just a second year player, he returns as a veteran member of the defensive front ... He was hampered by an injured back during the spring which limited his practice time, still he is expected to split time with Rick Fleece at the nose guard ... Drozdov also is a key member of the Maryland special teams, the unit for which he often served as captain last season.

1988: As a true freshman, he split time at the nose guard ... He played in all 11 games, making 20 tackles, including 12 unassisted ... He showed his mettle right from the start, recording 12 coach's special team tackling points in the first game of the season against Louisville ... Against Duke, he had three unassisted tackles on special teams — the best single-game special teams performance of any Terp last season ... He had two assisted tackles, including one for a loss, against Wake Forest.

At Oakcrest: He led his high school team to league titles in 1986 and 1987, quarterbacking the '86 squad to an 8-0 record and leading the '87 unit to the same undefeated mark from his defensive end position ... He was all-South Jersey at defensive end in 1987, after earning all-conference honors in 1985 and 1986 at quarterback ... he also was a standout performer in basketball and track as a shot putter.

Personal: Born 4/7/69 ... Darren is the son of Cynthia and Olaf Drozdov ... Olaf was a standout defensive lineman for the Terps in the early 1960's, lettering from 1962-64 ... Olaf was a second team All-ACC selection in 1964 and the Terps outstanding defensive lineman that season

Dave Dunne

Offensive Lineman
So. 6-4 263
Burbank, IL
Major: Art
High School: Burbank

At Maryland: Transferred to Maryland last year following his freshman season at the University of Kansas ... Came to College Park on the recommendation of former Terrapin Assistant Coach Bob Valesente who joined the Terrapin staff after a year as Head Coach at Kansas during Dunne's freshman year ... Impressed the staff during practices last fall and this spring ... Missed the latter part of spring drills because of an injury ... Has strength and quickness ... Bench presses 335 ... A strong candidate to become one of the top tackle reserve players.

1988: A redshirt year

At Burbank: Lettered two years in football, playing both offense and defensive tackle positions ... Also earned monograms two years as member of the track team ... He earned all-conference honors his senior year as he set a school record in the shot put, distance that was second best in the conference ... Captained the football and track teams his senior year ... He was a member of the Varsity Club and involved himself in high school charity events, the annual food drive and benefit basketball games.

Personal: Born 9/23/69. Dave is the son of Geri and Dan Dunne.

Karl Edwards

Linebacker
Jr. 6-4 225
Havre de Grace, MD
Major: Undergraduate Studies
High School: Aberdeen

At Maryland: A potentially tremendous talent who has already logged a lot of playing time.

1988: Edwards took his rangy presence into the middle of a lot of loose balls, sacks, and general mayhem ... Against Louisville he had four tackles (0-4) and three hurries ... West Virginia: nine tackles (4-5), a blocked field goal and a tackle for no gain ... N.C. Dean Green

Wide Receiver
Sr. 6-3 207
Martinsburg, WV
Major: Speech Communication
High School: Martinsburg

At Maryland: His 4.4 speed makes him the second fastest Terp this season, just behind the 4.3 time in the 40-yard dash of Norris Hanes ... Was moved to flanker in the spring of 1988 to take advantage of his skills and much needed speed to compensate for the departure of four wideouts from the 1987 team ... He played during his sophomore year, '87, as the backup free safety to Chad Sydnor ... Started three games last season, Georgia Tech, Wake Forest, and Duke ... Split the playing time at flanker with Barry Johnson but this season will take over the starting job as the split end ... Has good size and is an exceptional blocker for a wide receiver.

1988: Started three games, Georgia Tech, Wake Forest and Duke ... Played in all 11 games ... The most spectacular of his 14 season receptions came against N.C.State when he leaped high in the corner of the right end-zone for a 10-yard touchdown catch with 1:12 to play to give the Terrapins a 30-26 victory ... He also had the longest reception of the year and longest touchdown of the season, 77 yards against North Carolina with :32 to play in the third quarter ... The TD brought the Terps to withen three points, 28-31 in a game won by the Red and White on Dan Plocki's 38-yard field goal with :03 left in the game for the Terps 41-38 victory ... Had game high two catches in four games ... Also played on the special teams.

Greg Hines

Linebacker
So. 6-2 233
Sicklerville, NJ
Major: Undergraduate Studies
High School: Edgewood Regional

At Maryland: Coming off an excellent spring which vaulted him into position to compete for playing time at defensive end He has good size and runs well, adding quality depth to what is one of the deepest positions on the team ... Hines finished the spring as the No. 3 strongside end, behind alternating starters Karl Edwards and Mark Walsh.

1988: Saw little action, mainly on special teams ... He played all linebacker positions as part of the scout team, before concentrating on the outside position. Injured early in the season

1987: A redshirt year.

At Edgewood Regional: He was named to the all-conference, all-Group 4 and all-area teams as both a junior and senior, while also excelling in basketball and track ... In fact, he earned three high school letters each in his three disciplines ... He was an all-conference and honorable mention all-South Jersey pick as a shot putter.

Major: Criminal Justice
High School: Bayley-Ellard

At Maryland: Four year member of the football team ... He has played a vital role on scout teams and as a practice player ... Like James DeMoss, he has long been an unselfish, team-oriented player .. Hoffman is expected to see most of his playing time on special teams.

At Bayley-Ellard: Lettered for three years on the soccer team, earning honorable mention all-conference in 1985.

Personal: Born 7/17/67. Jeff is the son Sheila and Robert Hoffman ... He is on track to earn his degree this December.

Mark Hofland

Offensive Tackle
Sr. 6-7 286
Charlottesville, VA
Major: Economics
High School: Albemarle

At Maryland: Has earned three varsity letters, playing most of the time at right tackle ... His experience and contributions as an offensive lineman are evidenced by his frequent starting roles ... After another fine spring practice, he will return for fall practice as the starting right tackle.

1988: Started the first five games of the season: Louisville, West Virginia, NC State, Syracuse, and Georgia Tech ... After non-starts in the next two games he came back into the starting unit for the next two games, North Carolina and Penn State ... He gave way to senior Ben Jefferson as both alternated equally after Ken Oberle was forced to miss the last three games because of mononucleuosis.

1987: Most of his letter winning playing time came at tackle ... Saw a great deal of action at center.

1986: Earned a scholarship and lettered in a reserve role at tackle after joining the team as a walk-on the previous year.

1985: A redshirt year after making the team as a walk-on.

At Albemarle: A three-sport letterman, football, basketball, and lacrosse ... He played defensive tackle and received all-district honors ... Was a forward/center in basketball and lacrosse.

Personal: Born 6/16/67. Mark is the son of Ina and Leonard Hofland

Michael Hollis

Defensive Back
Jr. 6-1 170
Rockville, MD
Major: Government & Politics
High School: Gonzaga

At Maryland: Will be one of the two most experienced defensive backs returning this season in a secondary which was loaded with talented seniors a year ago ... He finished the spring as the No. 1 right cornerback and his play at that position will be key for the Terps now-young secondary ... His pass coverage skills are ever improving and he is one of the hardest hitters on the squad ... Hollis also is one of the fastest backs in the Maryland secondary 1988: Played some cornerback, but saw considerable time as the nickel back in the Terps pass coverage ... He played in eight games, making 13 tackles, 10 unassisted ... He opened the season with one of his best games against Louisville, making four unassisted tackles and hurrying the Cardinals' talented quarterback ... With his 4.4 speed in the 40 yard dash, he also proved to be one of the team's most consistent special teams players, frequently registering first hits on special team coverage.

1987: He became the first redshirt freshman to start on defense since 1984 ... He started 10 games that season, leading the defensive secondary in tackles with 42 (25 unassisted) ... He also picked off two passes and recovered two fumbles ... His best games included a seven tackle (five unassisted), one forced fumble afternoon against West Virginia and a six unassisted tackle, one interception outing against Miami .. he got his first career interception in his collegiate debut against Syracuse.

1986: A redshirt year.

At Gonzaga: Was the quintessential student-athlete, earning Scholastic Coach/Adidas All-America recognition for his combined excellence in the classroom and on the field ... He was a National Merit Scholar, while earning letters as a defensive back and a wide receiver ... He was a first team all-Met selection by the Washington Post ... Hollis also was a three-event star in track and field, excelling in the sprints and as a long and triple jumper.

Personal: Born 3/22/68 ... Micheal is the son of Shirley and Vincent Hollis ... Hollis' brothers all played collegiate sports —
Vincent ran track at Villanova, Leslie played football at Waynesburg State and also attended Maryland, and Terrence ran track at Atlantic Christian College.

Mike Hopson

Rosemont, PA
Major: Undergraduate Studies
High School: Radnor

At Maryland: Gave himself the opportunity to vie for playing time this fall with his improved play in the spring He has tremendous upper body strength for his size and good quickness should play a key role this year on special teams and may see some legitimate action in the defensive backfield, where he was listed as the No. 2 left cornerback after the spring Exceptionally strong for his size, he benched 350 pounds in the spring.

1988: A redshirt year.

At Radnor: A four-sport star, lettering four times each in football and baseball and also receiving letters in track and ice hockey ... As captain his junior and senior seasons, he led Radnor to the district football title both years ... He was his team's Most Valuable Player and its Most Dedicated Player as a senior ... He earned first team all-Southeastern Pennsylvania, all-Central League, all-Main Line and all-Suburban in 1987 . Radnor also produced another Maryland defensive back, Chad Sydnor, who graduated after last season

Personal: Born 5/21/69 . Mike is the son of Frances and George Hopson

Kevin Hudak

Defensive Guard
Jr. 6-5 233
Bethlehem, PA
Major: Pre-Business
High School: Bethlehem Catholic

At Maryland: Made the move from outside linebacker to nose guard this past spring and showed promise at his new position ... He was able to work with the second team line for much of the spring because of an injury to Darren Drozdov which kept him out of action ... Currently, he is No. 3 on the Maryland depth chart.

1988: Moved to linebacker from tight end in the spring and saw mainly special teams duty

1987: A back up at tight end, playing on special teams

1986: A redshirt year.

At Bethlehem Catholic: A four-year letterman at offensive and defensive tackle ... He was a first team selection to the all-city and all-league teams as a junior and senior . Hudak served as team captain as a senior, leading the team to the city and state titles.

Barry Johnson

Wide Receiver
Jr. 6-3 201
Vienna, VA
Major: Agricultural Economics
High School: Herndon

At Maryland: After laying claim to the starting flanker job last year as a sophomore, Barry has emerged as one of the future key receivers ... Has the physical size and blocking abilities along with good speed, 4.7 in the 40-yard dash, to fit into the mold of talented receivers of the past ... With good hands and the knack of getting open, he became the "third down and long receiver" in the latter part of last season ... He was QB Neil O'Donnell's favorite target for a reception to keep a drive alive ... Started eight of the ten games he played, with injuries keeping him from the other starts ... Was the leading receiver in the spring Red/White game with five for 78 yards, a long of 31.

1988: Was the third leading receiver on the team with 24 receptions, 384 yards, one touchdown and a long of 26 yards vs N.C. State ... His scoring pass was a 24 yarder at Duke ... It came late in the third quarter to give the Terps a 21-16 lead and they never trailed after that point on the way to a 34-24 victory ... Caught a two-point conversion pass at Clemson ... Had a season high five receptions at Clemson as well as his season high yardage on catches, 70 ... Had four games with three receptions, Louisville, Duke, North Carolina and Virginia

Clarence Jones

Offensive Tackle
Jr. 6-6 277
Central Islip, NY
Major: Speech Communications
High School: Central Islip

At Maryland: Unquestionably one of the superstars of this year's Terrapin team ... He has the size, speed and strength to be a dominant offensive lineman .. Jones was a starter all last season and he returns this year to anchor a veteran offensive line ... He bench pressed 375 pounds in the spring weightlifting competition and squatted 435 ... Despite his size and strength, he runs a 4.7 40-yard-dash ... During the spring, the coaches experimented with Jones on the defensive line, where he received praise ... However, much to the chagrin of Maryland's defensive line coaches, Jones is expected to be back in his familiar offensive tackle position in the fall.

1988: Started all 11 games at left tackle ... He continually graded out in the high 80 and 90 percentile.

Dennis Spinelli (34)

Dennis Spinelli

Fullback
Sr. 6-2 229
Lindenhurst, NY
Major: Communications
High School: Lindenhurst

At Maryland: The biggest back with experience in the Terp fleet, a healthy Spinelli will convert important short yardage situations, and account for explosive trips up the middle. He has been used extensively for two years, and comes into his senior year as the classic fullback candidate.

1988: Maryland did not make a critical first down in its sixth game of the year against Wake Forest . Out of that unfortunate circumstance came life for Spinelli, the big back whose role it had been in the previous year to get the short yards ... Through those six games, Spinelli had gained but 91 yards on 24 carries ... In the next game at Duke, Spinelli was designated short man and responded with 39 yards on 11 carries and he scored his first TD ... Then, against North Carolina he charged into the end zone twice, and carried six times for 36 yards ... At Penn State he had a TD and 25 yards on seven muddy carries ... He was injured in the Clemson game but had 30 yards on five carries ... Based on his finish a year ago, he should charge into 1989.

1987: Had the best game of his career thus far against West Virginia .. Carried a career high 19 times for a career best 57 yards, and his two TDs led a remarkable comeback, and a two-point conversion run gave the Terps 15 consecutive points ... His top reception game was with Penn State at Memorial Stadium when he had career highs in receptions (five) and yards (45). Second leading rusher on the team.

1986: Lettered although hampered by injuries.

Ed Suggs

Running Back
So. 6-1 193
Brooklyn, NY
Major: Pre-Business
High School: Lafayette

At Maryland: Another in a line of promising, young backs who possess excellent speed and strength .. He finished the spring as the No. 2 tailback behind Bren Lowery and should see considerable action this season .. He has 4 5 speed in the 40, and still bench presses 300 pounds .. If Maryland's tailback position is to be sound, it will rely on the relatively unproven strengths of Suggs and fellow-sophomore Troy Jackson In the spring game, Suggs carried seven times for 23 yards . He also is expected to play on kickoff and punt return teams this season.

1988: Saw limited duty, rushing three times for 11 yards including a long gain of five yards against West Virginia.

High School: Weston Collegiate Institute

At Maryland: Is a leading candidate to be one of Maryland's starting tackles on opening day if he recovers completely, as expected, from a knee injury he suffered during spring ball ... He has the size, speed and strength to be one of the all-time greats for Maryland ... He squatted 700 pounds in the spring, one of only four Terps to make that weight ... Still, despite his huge size, he runs a 5.1 40 yard dash.

1988: Played in five games and really came on late in the year ... He was the back-up to All-Atlantic Coast Conference tackle Warren Powers, which limited his play .. He finished the year with just five tackles, but showed enormous potential his limited playing time.

1987: A redshirt year.

At Weston Collegiate Institute: A three-sport star, lettering four times each in football and basketball and twice in rugby ... He was captain of the football and basketball teams as a junior and senior ... He played three ways in football — on offense as a tight end, on defense as a tackle and on special teams as a kicker ... He was the center on the basketball team and the wing forward on the rugby team, earning Athlete of the Year honors in both those sports as well as his football MVP honors as a junior and senior.

Personal: Born 2/28/68 ... Lubo is the son of Rada and Roy Zizakovic and the brother of Srecko, a senior defensive end at Ohio State ... He led the team last year in fashion statements, often allowing teammate Dan DeArmas to experiment with different hairstyling designs on "Ziz's" head ... He is the first Canadian to play for Maryland since Jan Carinci, who as a standout wide receiver for the Terps in the early 1980s.

Scott Zolak

Quarterback
Jr. 6-5 224
Monongahela, PA
Major: Speech Communications
High School: Ringgold

At Maryland: The undisputed back-up quarterback for the Terps ... He has all the skills — a strong, accurate arm, good understanding of the offense and the respect of his teammates — to go along with his great size and attitude ... On many other major-college teams, he could be a starter, but the Terps are blessed with two of the best quarterbacks in the ACC this season ... Zolak had an impressive spring, capping it off with a 12 of 18 throwing performance for 152 yards in the spring game ... He benched 290 pounds in the spring and squatted 515, yet still ran a 4 9 40 yard dash.

1988: He played in four games — against West Virginia, Penn State, Clemson and Virginia — completing 12 of 22 passes (54.6 percent) for 128 yards ... Against Virginia, he entered the game late in the fourth quarter and led the Terps to a touchdown ... In that drive, he completed a 24-yard pass for a first down on fourth and 10, and then after a three-yard completion he pitched to running back Ricky Johnson who ran the final three yards to the touchdown ... The ensuing two-point conversion was quite possibly the most controversial play of the Terps' year — Zolak's pass to Ricky Johnson was ruled incomplete by one referee after being signaled good by another and the Terps lost the game by a single point, 24-23.

1987: Did not play during the season, but gained valuable experience as part of the scout team and in practice situations with Neil O'Donnell and then-starter Dan Henning.

1986: A redshirt year.

At Ringgold: Quarterback and basketball team forward for each of his four prep years, while earning honor roll status three of those seasons ... As a senior, he was a first team all-state and all-conference pick, while being selected to the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette's Fabulous 22 and the Pittsburgh Press' Finest 44 ... He was named to Athlon Magazine's Eastern Elite 11 and was selected as Ringgold MVP by the Tribune Review and Metro Index ... His numbers that senior season were impressive: 79 completions in 153 attempts for 1,251 yards and 10 touchdowns, against six interceptions ... As a kicker, he was 17 of 17 on PATs and had a 40.4 punting average.

Personal: Born 12/13/67 ... Scott is the son of Daryl and Paul Zolak.

Teams Coached by Captains

There was a lot of ACC hoopla in 1988—the Terps went to the 10th weekend of the season as one of the two teams with one loss.

The Athletic Hall of Fame was founded in 1982 by the M Club Foundation as a joint project of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the M Club. The first committee was organized by then Athletic Director Dick Dull and consisted of outstanding Terrapin athletes and coaches Jack Faber (Class of 1926), Tom Fields (Class of 1942), Al Heagy (Class of 1930), Jim Kehoe (Class of 1940) and Jack Scarbath (Class of 1952) Arthur L. Kramer (Class of 1942), a letterwinner in tennis, was particularly important in the founding of the Hall of Fame.

Among the qualifications for nominees are being out of school at least 10 years, having earned a minimum of one varsity letter, and if not an undergraduate athlete, being a Department of Intercollegiate Athletics staff member for at least 15 years. Nominees will be judged on personal conduct in life and their contributions to the high ideals of intercollegiate athletics.

Those selected to the Hall of Fame are inducted at the M Club's Sports Awards Banquet, held annually on campus in December. Presently on the Selection Committee are Bill Campbell, Frank Cronin, Al Heagy, Jack Faber, Jim Kehoe, Sully Krouse and Doyle Royal, all of whom were long-term coaches at the University. In addition, former Terrapin athletes Bosey Berger (three varsity sports), Jack Scarbath (two varsity sports), Jack Flynn (M Club Director and two varsity sports), and Arthur Kramer (one varsity sport and alumni representative) serve. Completing the Committee are Athletic Director Lew Perkins and Sports Information Director Herb Hartnett.

JIM TATUM

By Frank Bertucci

The eight-column banner headline across the top of the front page of The Washington Post of Jan. 9, 1956 read:

"Tatum Goes to North Carolina"

With two subheads: "42 Year-Old Coach Posted Record of 73-15-4, Had Five Bowl Teams" "Jim Leaves Maryland; Signs Pact for 10 Years"

At the top of that front page was this tag for another story. "Ike Hints at Tentative Decision"

Maybe Jim Tatum outheadlined The President of the United States because he had made his decision, while Mr. Eisenhower wasn't making his decision to run for reelection public yet. Or maybe Jim Tatum, and his Maryland football teams of the early 1950s were really The Big Story around the Nation's Capital.

In a brief time as a college football head coach, one season at North Carolina (1942. 5-2-2), one at Oklahoma (1946, 8-3, Gator Bowl victory over North Carolina State), nine years at Maryland (194755, 73-15-4, 2-2-1 in bowl games), Jim Tatum had become a coaching legend. Indeed, if he had lived longer than 46 years, and coached past those last three years at North Carolina (14-15-1), he may have been remembered as vividly as the man who replaced him at OKlahoma (Bud Wilkinson) or the man who coached Maryland two years before he arrived (Paul "Bear" Bryant).

Talk with some of his former Maryland players, more than 30 years after any of them played for him, and you'll realize the effect he had on them, and on college football. "He and Vince Lombardi could have been brothers," said Jack Scarbath, College Hall of Fame quarterback (1950-52). "His was probably the forerunner of the organized practice that is still used today. An individual player was never still. He'd blow his whistle and you'd move to another drill. The players were always on the move."

"Coach Tatum was a master coach," said Bob Ward, a Hall-of-Fame lineman (1948-51) whom Tatum called "the greatest little player I've ever seen."

"He (Tatum) knew how to recruit, and how to handle us roughnecks," Ward said. "He was extremely organized, a born coach."

"It's a shame he never got into coaching professional football," said Dick (Little Mo) Modzelewski, Outland Award winner as a senior in 1952, himself an assistant coach with five NFL teams. "He had no favorites. He knew how to motivate us, and was always very organized "

"He assembled unbelievable teams at Maryland," said Bob Pelligrini (1953-55), co-captain of Tatum's last Maryland team. "Those teams looked like Miami or Oklahoma do today. He put Maryland on the map. He was quotable, magnetic, with a certain flair."

Dick Bielski co-captained Tatum's National Championship team of 1953, and had the most unique relationship with the coach of any of the former Terrapin players. He lived with him during his freshman year at Maryland.

"I wasn't much of a football player in high school (Patterson Park in Baltimore) until my senior year," he remembered. "Southern Cal was in town for a game with Navy, and the Southern Cal coaches invited me to eat with the team before the game. It was really a big deal. I fell in love with those maroon jackets those Southern Cal guys had, and I decided that was it, I was going to college in California.

"Coach Tatum found out about this and gave my mother a song-and-dance about being 3000 miles from home. And after talking with him, she told me "You're going to Maryland.'

"Well, USC was going to give me a full scholarship, room-and-board off campus, and send my scholarship money home. Coach Tatum told my mom I could live at his house, and he'd send the scholarship money to her.

"So I lived with Coach and his family during my freshman year. We would have breakfast together, then he would drive to school and I would walk. If he did drive me in, he would let me out of his car a few blocks before we got there. I understood that. The other players knew about my situation, but Coach wouldn't show any favoritism, or let anyone think there was."

Tatum's teams from 1950-1955 were 51-8-2, with a perfect 10-0 record and Sugar Bowl victory in 1951, and 10-0 regular-season records in 1953 and 1955 before both teams were upset by Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl. And those three teams seemingly never had close games. The 1951 team outscored its opponents by 381-75; in 1953 it was Maryland 298-Opponents 38; 1955, Terrapins 217-Others 77. That averages to Maryland 28-Opponents 5.8. "I don't ever remember being down by more than seven points in any game," said Scarbath. "We never had a lot of changing or adjusting to do because we were always ahead."

"I don't think Coach Tatum was a good sideline coach," said Ward, "but we were always so well prepared, we just didn't allow a lot of points to the other team."

"I remember during one game, we were down at the half," Bielski said. "We knew we were going to get a chewing out. You could hear his footsteps in the hallway, and you knew he was coming."

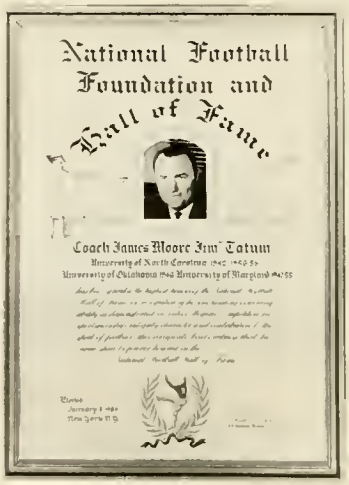
"Well, five minutes go by, then 10, and there's no coaches at all in the dressing room. Twelve, 13, 14 minutes and the officials come in and tell us to get on the field.

"Coach Tatum walked right out the door and never said a word to us. That was his halftime speech ... nothing at all. Of course, we went out and won the game.

"Whenever he said something it carried a lot of weight. He didn't do it with fire-and-brimstone, he was no Knute Rockne. He was a winner."

All of the former Terps remember Tatum as a man they could talk to when they needed it.

"You knew you could go to him for advice," said Modzelewski "He looked after us for our education. He made sure we got an education along with the playing time."



"One of my best friends at Maryland was Ed Vereb (starting quarterback on the 1955 team)," said Pelligrini. "He wanted to go to dental school and I remember Coach Tatum telling him that no matter what happened on the field, if he wanted to go to med school he'd (Tatum) help him." Maryland's teams have yet to regain the national heights of Jim Tatum's teams of the early 1950s. His teams' records tell all about him as a coach; his former players tell all about him as a person

"He would always take the blame when things went wrong, but he was good at giving out praise," said Scarbath, "especially in front of the press."

Jim Tatum died in July, 1959 after contacting a "mystery virus" while in Canada. (The virus was later determined to be Rocky Mountain Fever.) In 1984, his name was added to the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame lists, along with two of his former Maryland players, Bob Ward and Jack Scarbath.

He left Maryland to become head coach at his alma mater, North Carolina, saying, "I leave Maryland with mixed emotions. Like the King of England when he abdicated the throne for the woman he loved "

And he replaced the President of the United States on the front page of The Washington Post

BOB WARD

By Frank Bertucci

"Bob Ward is the greatest little player, ounce for ounce, I've ever seen." -Jim Tatum, Head Coach, University of Maryland

Not "pound-for-pound", but "ounce-for-ounce."

Bob Ward weighed all of 185 pounds throughout his four-year playing career at Maryland, and even in the early 1950s that was no size for a lineman. Especially a lineman who was a first-team All-American middle guard on defense as a junior in 1950, and a first-team All American offensive guard as a senior in 1951

"I was taught to play both ways," said Ward, who was voted Most Valuable Player by his teammates in each of his four years at Maryland. "I started every game but one in four years, and that was because of a minor injury I could have started that game, too. I always thought I was a very consistent player. My forte was consistency."

The forte of the Maryland teams of the early 1950s was consistency, a winning consistency. Bob Ward's four teams were a combined 32-7-1, winning two bowl games (1949 Gator over Missouri, 1951 Sugar over Tennessee to complete a perfect 10-0 season). And Bob Ward was the heart and soul of those teams.

The college teams of the late 1940s were a mixture of Army veterans and teenagers just out of high school. The flourishing service football teams were a fertile source for college recruiters.

Bob Ward was an Army paratrooper after the war, and was stationed at Fort Benning, GA when he became a hot recruit.

"My line coach at Fort Benning was an ex-Alabama player, and he steered me to Alabama," Ward remembered "I signed a letter of intent to go there, but I wasn't that keen on the idea. "I was discharged in January of 1948, and went home (to Elizabeth, NJ), when Coach Tatum called I changed my mind then, and decided to attend Maryland. I know I went to the right school for me."

Veterans were permitted to play as freshmen at that time, so Ward moved right in to the defensive line.

"I think I had a God-given talent to be a middle guard," he said "Most of the good linemen at that time were quicker It was the era of transition from the single wing to the T formation, and you couldn't be a single wing guard and not be able to move."

Jim Tatum's Maryland teams were at the forefront of that transition Maryland's split T offense was to become one of the most potent ot the early 1950s, opening up the field, gaining yardage and scoring touchdowns in record numbers. And Bob Ward led the defense. In his sophomore and junior seasons (1949-50), Maryland allowed two or more TDs in just eight of 20 games, and six of those eight games were Terrapin victories. Bob Ward did not play in a losing game in his last 15 games for Maryland.

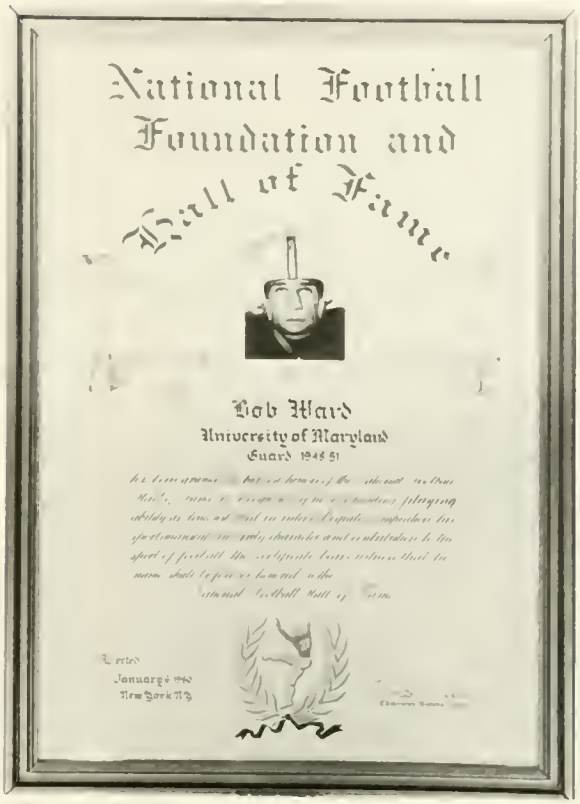
"I think those Maryland teams from 1951-1955 were the school's best," said Ward, who was an assistant coach with the Terps for six years after his graduation "Coach Tatum had some terrific teams. The '51 team was a good team (10-0, Sugar Bowl champion), and the '53 team may have been better (10-1, National Champion despite an Orange Bowl upset loss to Oklahoma). We had a lot of good players. I'd have to say that that was the best era for Maryland football."

Ask Bob Ward, or most of his teammates, for one game that stands out in their memory, and they bring up the Sugar Bowl of January 1, 1952, when the 9-0, 3rd ranked Terrapins faced the top-ranked 10-0 Tennessee Volunteers.

"Tennessee was No. 1, I think Michigan State was No. 2, and we were ranked third," Ward remembered. "We wanted to play Tennessee, and we didn't just beat them in that game, we killed them.

"Our defense was awesome, our offense was moving the ball. Ed Modzelewski was ripping them up the middle, Ed Fullerton threw one TD pass, scored another and played both ways. Either one of them could have been MVP (Modzelewski was).

"We just dominated the game. I think we set a record for penalties called in one game, we had one more TD called back



"And remember this was before the Orioles and Colts. The entire state went crazy over us."

One fact Bob Ward fails to mention about that game can be quoted from The Washington Post story of Morrie Siegel, which appeared on January 2, 1952: "In a head to head battle between All American guards, Bobby Ward outplayed Ted Daffer from here to Knoxville and that's the chief reason Maryland smashed Tennessee and today is being toasted down here as the Nation's real No. 1 team Ward's terrific blocking, centered all game on Daffer, practicaly demolished the Vol lineman and opened the way for Mighty Mo Modzelewski and his pulverizing smashes through the Vol line."

The awards and honors earned by Bob Ward as a Maryland player belie physical stature, but speak volumes about the man:

- –MVP of the 1949 Gator Bowl, Maryland's first bowl victory
- –Only player ever to earn first team All-American honors as both an offensive and defensive position player.
- –Southern Conference Player-of-the-year as a senior.
- –Lineman-of-the-Year as chosen by the Washington Touchdown Club and the Philadelphia Sportswriters Association in 1951

Bob Ward's size finaly caught up with him after his senior season. Even in the 1950s, a 185-pound lineman did not fit the professional football mold So he remained at Maryland as an assistant coach, eventually returning to his alma mater as head football coach for three seasons in the late 1960s.

Dick Modzelewski, Little Mo, a teammate of Bob Ward's for two years at Maryland, an all-pro in the National Football League, and a long-time defensive line coach in the NFL remembered his teammate this way:

"Bobby Ward played with no face mask. He had no skin on his nose. He was tough. He was the kind of player you would love to have as a coach. He always worked hard."

And he helped Maryland reach special heights on the football field.

JACK SCARBARTH

By Frank Bertucci

The story could have been taken from a Hollywood script of the 1930s.

School president wants his school on the football map he visits his sister for a holiday, and takes in a high school football game. He likes what he sees of the star of the winning team, and invites him to his school ... the football player goes on to become an All-American quarterback and leads his team to the top of the national rankings.

Hollywood B-movie, no doubt. But fill in a few names of real people and places. Dr. Harry C. Byrd ... Jack Scarbath ... University of Maryland And your movie becomes fact, no longer fiction.

"It is a true story," remembers Jack Scarbath, the quarterback in question. "I was playing for Baltimore Poly against City College on Thanksgiving (1948). Dr. Byrd was visiting his sister and came to our game. He didn't come down on the field after the game and invite me to Maryland or anything like that, but I heard from the football staff not long after."

Jack Scarbath probably repaid Dr. Byrd two years after that when he scored the first touchdown in the new Byrd Stadium, a 25-yard run, as the Terrapins won their first game of the 1950 season, 35-21, over Navy. It was Jack Scarbath's first collegiate start.

Maryland dominated the college football scene in the early 1950s. Head Coach Jim Tatum installed a new offense called the split T", and Jack Scarbath ran it to perfection. "It was a very new offense," Scarbath recalls. "Most teams were still using the single wing, and it was extremely difficult to defense our attack. As a split T quarterback, I'd move behind the line and decide which way to go when I saw how the defense reacted. It wasn't a good offense if your team was far behind, but that didn't happen to us very often."

In three years as Maryland's starting quarterback, Jack Scarbath led the Terps to a 24-4-1 record, with a memorable 28-13 Sugar Bowl victory over Tennessee capping a perfect 10-0 1951. The team had a 22-game unbeaten streak between the sixth game in 1950 and the eighth game of 1952, with 19 consecutive victories over three seasons. During the streak, the Terps' split T offense scored 738 points, an average of 33.5 per game, while the defense was allowing just 147 points (6.7 per game). Opponents scored more than seven points in just four games during the streak. No, the Terps did not have many come-from-behind victories in those days.

And the split T quarterback was personally rewriting the Maryland recordbook. In three seasons, he completed 125 of 260 passes for 2287 yards, an average of 18.3 yards for every reception, 22 of which were touchdowns. His 2938 yards of total offense was a new school record, as was the 35 TDs he was responsible for. His senior numbers of 1149 passing yards and 1386 total offense yards stood as school records for 10 years, until Dick Shiner surpassed them in 1962.

"Some of those records that those teams set, for one game or one season, lasted 20 years," he said "You can see that we had some good teams."

Like many of his former teammates, Scarbath keeps the Sugar Bowl of New Year's Day, 1952 as a special memory. But there's one other which especially stands out for him.

"Maryland football was just evolving from playing George Washington, Georgetown and Delaware, and was now scheduling Navy and Georgia, Michigan State, Alabama and LSU," he said. "But the Michigan State game of my sophomore year was the one that put us on the map, so to speak "

Michigan State, the No. 1 college football team in the nation in 1949, had handed Maryland its only loss that season, 14-7. The 1950 rematch was played at East Lansing, and Maryland and its sophomore quarterback were off to a 1-1 start (loss to Georgia, win over Navy in Byrd Stadium's first game).

Our coaching staff did a tremendous job in preparing us for that game," he recalls. "In fact, I'd have to say that it was one of the easier games I ever had to call because of our preparation. We knew what to look for in their defense, and we took advantage of everything we saw."

The final score was Maryland 34-Michigan State 7

No bowl game followed that 7-2-1 season, but the Sugar Bowl was waiting after a 9-0 1951, when the Terps outscored opponents by 291 points.

"The previous spring, General Neyland (Tennessee's legendary coach), had attended our practices to learn how to defense the split T," Scarbath remembers, "and ironically we wind up playing them in the Sugar Bowl

"We didn't know if they'd change from their normal defense to something special just for that game, but they didn't until the second half. By that time it was too late. They thought they could manhandle us but they couldn't. I think that our defense held their offense to minus yards running that day.

"Personally the games with Navy were always special for me. I'm from Baltimore, and the Midshipmen were in our backyard. I remember selling programs at an Army-Navy game in Baltimore when I was in high school. It was a natural rivalry. We played them once in Byrd Stadium and twice in Baltimore [winning all three by 35-21, 40-22, 38-7]."

After his senior season, Jack Scarbath finished runner-up to Oklahoma's Billy Vessels in voting for the Heisman Trophy, was a first team All-American quarterback, and a first-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins. He and Jim Tatum and Bob Ward and the Modzeleweski brothers--and Dr. Harry C. Byrd--had helped write a special chapter of the Maryland football story. "I'm still very close to a lot of those guys," he said. "I roomed with Mo (Dick Modzelewski) and Bernie Faloney (who followed him at quaterback). And Bobby Ward was just a tremendous leader. He was as quick as a cat on the field. And I don't think ayone else has ever been an AllAmerican as both an offensive and a defensive player.

"And Coach Tatum ran the show, no ifs, ands or buts."

In 1983, Jack Scarbath became the second Maryland football player inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame, joining Bob Ward His number "62" was retired, along with the "28" of Ward, and the "94" of Randy White.

It may have been a hard-to-believe Hollywood script, but Jack Scarbath's Maryland story was true.

DICK MODZELEWSKI

By Frank Bertucci

The name has almost always been a part of him.

"Little Mo"

Through three All-American years at Maryland, and 14 all-pro years in the National Football League, Dick Modzelewski was always Little Mo.

At 6-0, 235 pounds during his playing days at Maryland he was one of the bigger collegiate linemen of the early 1950s. But he was the second Mo at Maryland, so he had to be "Little" to his older brother Ed, "Big Mo."

"I wasn't sure about coming to Maryland after high school," Modzelewski said "I was all set to go to the University of Cincinnati where Sid Gillman and Paul Dietzel were coaching. My brother Ed was at Maryland already (a year ahead of Dick), and I wanted to do things on my own, to show what I could do.

"But then my family got into it, and I realized it wouldn't be so bad. Jim Tatum and his assistants were super recruiters. They recruited a lot of us from western Pennsylvania."

So Dick was off for College Park, and since there was already one Mo there, an older Mo, the pair became Big Mo and Little Mo. Ed, Big Mo, was a powerful fullback, who would eventually be the Most Valuable Player of the 1951 Sugar Bowl victory over Tennessee, and he became Mighty Mo, after the battleship of the same title. (A third Modzelewski followed his older brothers to College Park; he would become "No Mo.")

Dick Modzelewski played three years as a defensive tackle for the Terrapins, on the great teams which were 24-4-1. He would become Maryland's first winner of a major national honor when he earned the Outland Trophy as the nation's top lineman for 1952. But he admits that his first on-field experience at Maryland did not lead him to think he would be an All-American, let alone a starter.

"The freshmen scrimmaged against the varsity at the end of practice before the start of the season (1949), and I lined up against Bob Ward," he remembered

Ward weighed all of 185 pounds, but was regarded as one of the best collegiate linemen of his time. He is still the only player to be a first team All-American as a defensive player one year, and an offensive player the next.

"Well, I'm bigger than he is," Modzelewski went on. "So I thought I'd be able to handle this guy. He kicked the hell out of me, pushed me all over the place. That settled me down in a hurry."

Like most of the players of the early 1950s, Modzelewski considers the 1951 Sugar Bowl triumph over Tennessee as Maryland's finest hour, especialy in his case since his brother Ed was the game's MVP. But there were other games which had special personal meaning for him.

"The Michigan State game of my sophomore year (1950) was a big game for me and my brother," he said "It was at Michigan State, and a whole tramload of our relatives were coming up (to East Lansing) for the game. The game was written up like Michigan State would tear us apart. We were referred to as a farm team

"Michigan State had one player from a rival high school of mine in western Pennsylvania. My team (West Natrona) had never beaten his team in four years in high school, and I really wanted to beat this guy now. Well, Jim Tatum fired all of us up pretty good We had a big win."

The big win was by 34-7 over the reigning national champion. That game certainly put Maryland on college football's map. A 16-13 loss to North Carolina State two games later would be the last for Dick Modzelewski and his teammates for over two years, an unbeaten streak of 22 games, including 19 consecutive victories.

"Jim Tatum treated everybody like family," Modzelewski said. "He had no favorites. He was in complete control of the team.

" There were 15 or 16 of us from western Pennsylvania on that Sugar Bowl team. I think Jim Tatum and his staff were the first of the great recruiters. Jack Hennemeier (assistant coach) would be around so often everybody knew who he was when he was recruiting."

Jack Scarbath, Jim Tatum, Dick Modzelewski

The other game Modzelewski likes to remember was during his senior year (1952), against Navy.

"They had this All-American lineman named (Larry) Eisenhower," he said. "I played against him head-to head, and didn't do too well in the first half The coaches put the spark into me at halftime, and I had a field day in the second half (of a 38-7 Terrapin win)."

At the end if his senior season, Dick Modzelewski was named to every All-American team, and was awarded the Outland Trophy. He was a second-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins; his teammate quarterback Jack Scarbath had been the Redskins' first choice. Since then, he has spent his life in the National Football League, splitting 14 playing seasons with the Redskins, Pittsburgh Steelers, becoming an all-pro with the New York Giants and Cleveland Browns, playing on NFL champions with the Giants (1956) and Browns (1964). After his retirement as a player, Modzelewski became a defensive line coach, helping the 1982 Cincinnati Bengals into the Super Bowl And he still holds his former Maryland coach Jim Tatum in high esteem.

"It's a shame he never got into coaching professional football," Mo said "He was very organized, he knew how to motivate his players. He knew the offense and the defense. Those coaches got us thinking about the game plan and fired us up We went after teams from the beginning of the game."

"I still think those teams were Maryland's best. In that Sugar Bowl game, we held Hank Lauricella to minus one yard rushing. The Maryland teams could do that to anybody."

Through the 22-game unbeaten streak, the Little Mo Modzelewski-led defense allowed only 147 points, with only four teams scoring better than one touchdown, and six being shut out. In his three seasons, the Terrapins were beaten only four times.

But because of his big brother, Dick Modzelewski will always be remembered as "Little Mo"; it's only a nickname, but it was never on target.

RANDY WHITE

By Frank Bertucci

When Randy White arrived at Maryland as a freshman in the fall of 1971, he was not heralded as the beginning of a new age for Maryland football.

But by the time his playing career as a Terrapin had ended he was regarded as one of the best college linemen of all time.

Maryland's football fortunes had waned since the mid-1950s and Jim Tatum's all-conquering teams. There had been just three winning seasons in 15 years. Randy White was just a good-looking lineman in the 1971 freshman team, while the varsity was going 2-9 for the second year in a row.

Then Jerry Claiborne became Maryland's head coach before Randy White's sophomore year. Good fortune was about to return to Terrapin football, and the leader would be, of all positions, a defensive tackle.

"My first look at Randy White was of a player with good speed and movement, but of someone who wanted to be a better player," Claiborne said.

"When I arrived at Maryland, I talked to all of the players individually," he said. "I asked Randy if he wanted to be an All-American, and he said yes. I told him he could be one of the five best linemen in the U.S. if he wanted to, but he had to realize how much work that would take.

"The ability was naturally there, but he was a worker. He never missed any time in the weightroom, and he made himself bigger and faster. By the time he was a senior, he was as fast as some offensive backs I had coached."

In the early 1970s, Randy White changed the look of football's defensive lines. At Maryland, and later in an all-pro National Football League career with the Dallas Cowboys, he was regarded as the quickest defensive lineman to play the game. He could be in an opponent's backfield before a quarterback could make a handoff. Fifteen years after he played his last game at Maryland he still held the season record for tackles in the opponents' backfield (24).

In White's sophomore season, Maryland was 5-5-1, its first 500 season in eight years. In his junior year of 1973, the Terrapins were 8-4, 5-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference, and played in the Peach Bowl against Georgia, Maryland's first bowl appearance since the 1955 team had played in the Orange Bowl.

And Randy White was beginning to be noticed. He was chosen first-team all-ACC, and his name appeared in several All-American listings.

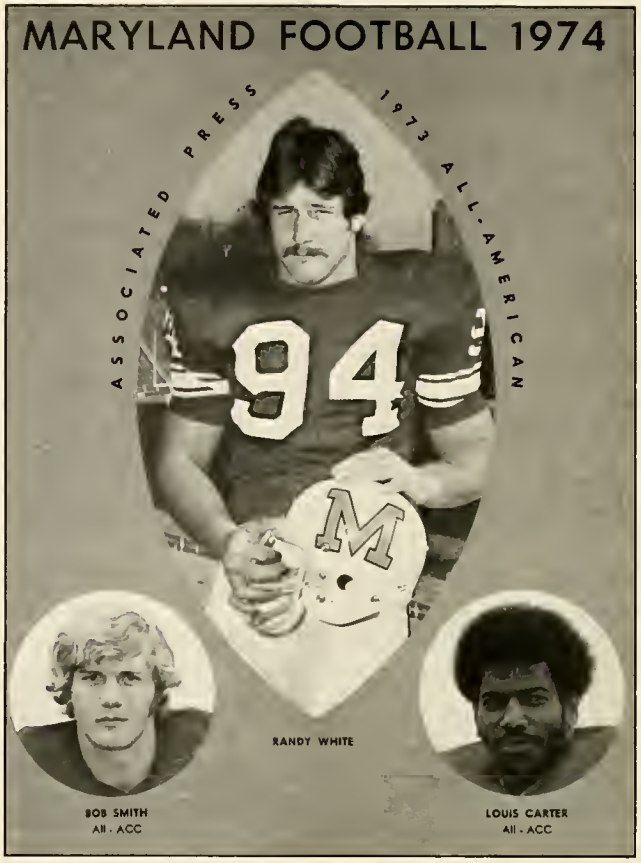
White had a lot to live up to going into the 1974 season. He was an unanimous AllAmerican selection, on the cover of preseason magazines, even on the cover of Maryland's football guide.

He told a Washington Post writer early in that season: "I haven't got time for anything else but football. I love it more than anything else in life. I like everything about it, the hitting, the competition. You know, it's fun. It's what I want to do."

But Maryland's season began with losses to Alabama and Florida. The season turned the next week, a 24-12 ACC victory over North Carolina. It was four more weeks before another team would score at all against Randy White and the Terrapin defense. The only other regularseason loss would be to Penn State; Maryland had an 8-3 regular season, and its first outright ACC title ever. In 11 games, the defense had five shutouts, and allowed just 35 points in its eight wins.

And then Randy White cleaned up the awards plate. Outland and Lombardi Tropies as the top collegiate lineman ACC Player-of-theYear ... unanimous first team All-American ... Delaware's (his home state) Athlete-of-the-Year ... Philadelphia Sportswriters Amateur Athlete-of-the-Year. You name the award and Randy White's name was engraved on it. "He was the best player that I ever coached," said Claiborne 14 years after he last coached Randy White. "In his prime he was as good as anybody who ever played defensive line, college or pro."

"I'll never forget one play against Clemson. They have a fourth-and-goal at our one yard line. They run a dive play behind their offensive guard. Our defensive line, including Randy, is slanting in the other direction. It's a touchdown. But Randy was so fast, he cut back and still stopped the play. Clemson had run a perfect play and Randy had stopped it. Their coach, Red Parker, told me afterward that he didn't see how it was humanly possible for anybody to make that play."



The 1974 Terps went to the Liberty Bowl, where a late Tennessee touchdown gave the Vols a 7-3 win in Memphis. But Randy White was named Player-of-the-Game.

A first-round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys, the second player selected in the entire draft, White was an all-pro performer throughout his career, and shared Super Bowl MVP honors with Dallas teammate Harvey Martin when the Cowboys defeated Denver in Super Bowl XII.

White and Dick Modzelewski, both recipients of the Outland Trophy, are the only Maryland players to be voted individual post-season player-of-the-year awards. Like White, Modzelewski was an all-star VP professional football, and became a defensive line coach after his retirement. He never coached Randy White, but he coached against him many times.

"He has such quickness and explosion off the ball," said Little Mo. "He goes 100% all the time. He's been all-pro so many times, that tells you what kind of a player he is."

No one else will wear "94" at Maryland; Randy White's number has been retired. He played a major role in the return of Maryland to the top of ACC football in the 1970s, and earned himself a permanent place with college football's all-time great players.

Walter Camp Award

The Walter Camp Football Foundation (New Haven, Conn.) annually presents a player of the year award to the top individual in collegiate football.

Bob Pellegrini '56 was honored following his senior season.

Lombardi Award

The Rotary Club of Houston each year presents the Lombardi Award to the lineman of the year in college football.

The award is presented to the offensive or defensive lineman or linebacker who best combines athletic performance with the discipline of Vince Lombardi, the former Green Bay Packer coach.

DT Randy White, '75, was honored following his senior season.

Outland Trophy

The Outland Trophy is presented annually to the outstanding interior lineman (guard, tackle or center) in collegiate football by the Football Writers Association of America.

The award is given in memory of John Outland, a Pennsylvania graduate and Football Hall of Fame selection, who remained active in athletics in his native Kansas, while being known as the first doctor in state history to fly his patients.

Since the inception of the award in 1946 two Maryland players were selected:

DT Dick Modzelewski, 1952

DT Randy White, 1974

Jacobs Blocking Trophy

The Jacobs Blocking Trophy is awarded annually by William and Hugh Jacobs of Clinton, S.C., to the player voted the outstanding blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference in a poll of the head football coaches. The trophy is given in memory of William P. Jacobs, who served as president of Presbyterian College from 1935 to 1945, by his sons.

Three Maryland players were awarded the honor:

Bob Pellegrini, C - 1955

Ralph Sonntag, OT - 1969

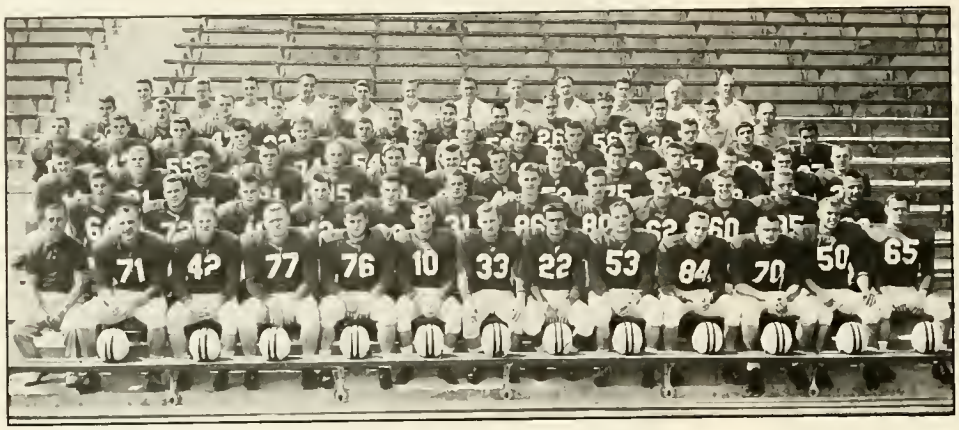
Dave Pacella, OT - 1982

Bob Pellegrini

Dave Pacella (60) is one of three Terps in the history of the ACC to win the Jacobs Blocking Trophy.

Top Terps in the ACC, 1953, 1955 Champions

1953



National champion Maryland and 18th-ranked Duke tied for the ACC's inaugural grid title. The Terps finished the regular season with a perfect 10-0 record, including a 3-0 mark in league play. Maryland, which lost to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, 7-0, scored 298 points, the most by a team until 1967, while allowing an ACC record-low 31 points. The Terps led the nation in rushing defense, 83.9 yards allowed per outing, and scoring defense, 3.1 points per game. Terp tackle Stan Jones earned consensus All-America honors while teammate Bernie Faloney was named first team Academic All-America.

Maryland won its first conference championship in 18 years, sweeping past all six of its league opponents. It marked the 10th time in conference history that a team has gone unbeaten in league play. An ACC record three teams earned bowl bids. Maryland lost to Tennessee, 7-3, in the Liberty Bowl. The Terps extended their win streak against ACC foes to 10-in-a-row. Clemson's Bennie Cunningham, North Carolina's Ken Huff and Maryland's Randy White were consensus All-Americans. White, a senior defensive tackle, won both the Outland and Lombardi Trophies.

Maryland captured its second consecutive ACC gridiron title by posting a perfect 5-0 league mark and extending its win streak over conference opponents to 15-in-a-row, tying a league mark. For the third straight year, the Terps took part in post-season competition, defeating Florida, 13-0 in the Gator Bowl. Maryland, which led the league in total offense with a 375.2 yards per game average, set an ACC single game total offense mark with 802 yards in a 62-24 victory over Virginia, November 22. Terps' John Schultz was the nation's top kickoff returner with a 31.0 average.

Top Terps in the ACC, 1976, 1983

1976

Maryland's powerful Terrapins swept through the regular season undefeated and became only the second team in ACC history to win three consecutive league titles outright. Coach Jerry Claiborne's club ran its conference victory string to a record 20 straight. The Terps appeared in a bowl for the fourth straight year, losing to Southwest Conference champion Houston, 30-21, in the Cotton Bowl. Maryland tackle Joe Campbell and Wake Forest defensive back Bill Armstrong were consensus All-Americans. Maryland's No. 8 ranking in the final AP poll was the first top 10 finish by an ACC team since 1960.

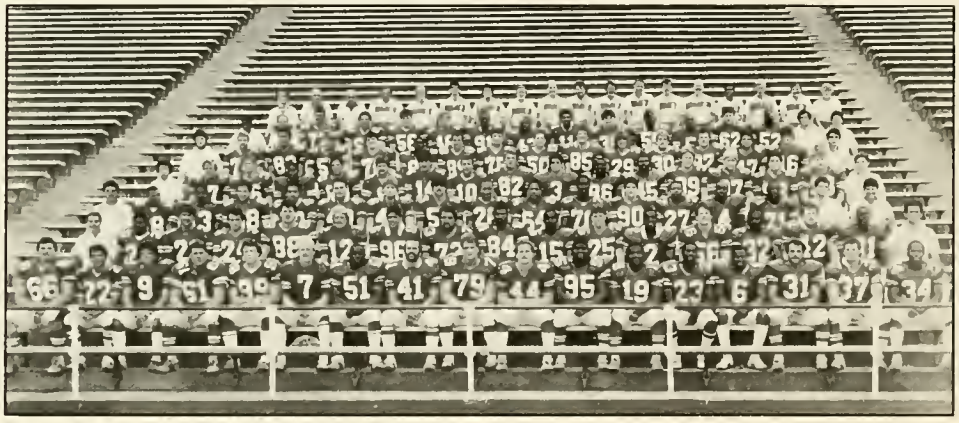
1983



Maryland claimed its first ACC title since 1976, finishing undefeated in five league contests while North Carolina was second with a 4-2 mark. Both had identical 8-4 overall records. In bowl action, the Terps dropped a 30-23 decision to Tennessee in the Florida Citrus Bowl while the Tar Heels, in their fifth straight bowl game, lost to Florida State, 28-3, in the Peach Bowl.

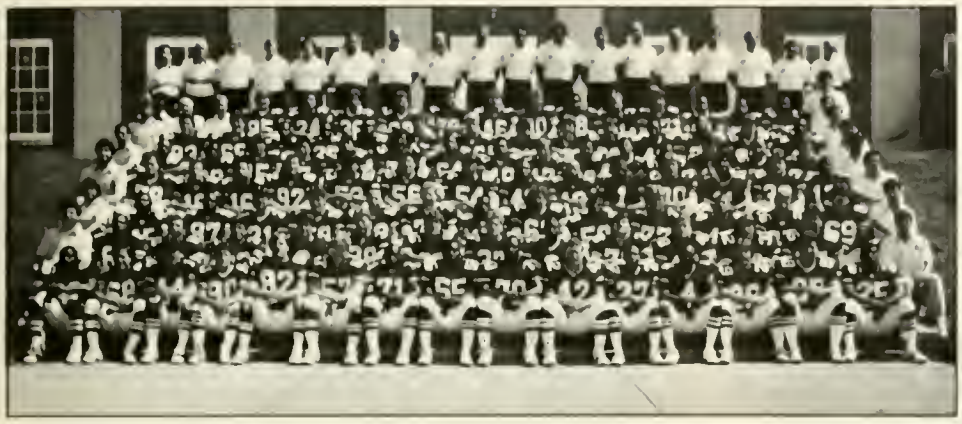
1984



Maryland pocketed the championship for the second year in a row and earned their fifth outright crown over the past 11 seasons. The title was not decided until the season's final weekend when the Terps knocked off Virginia, 45-33, for the league crown. Maryland, taking part in its third straight bowl game, defeated Tennessee in the Sun Bowl, 28-27, while Virginia, making its first-ever bowl game appearance, defeated Purdue in the Peach Bowl, 27-24. Maryland, trailing Miami 31-0 at the half, rallied for 42 second half points to beat the Hurricanes, 42-40, setting a record for the greatest comeback in NCAA Division IA football history.

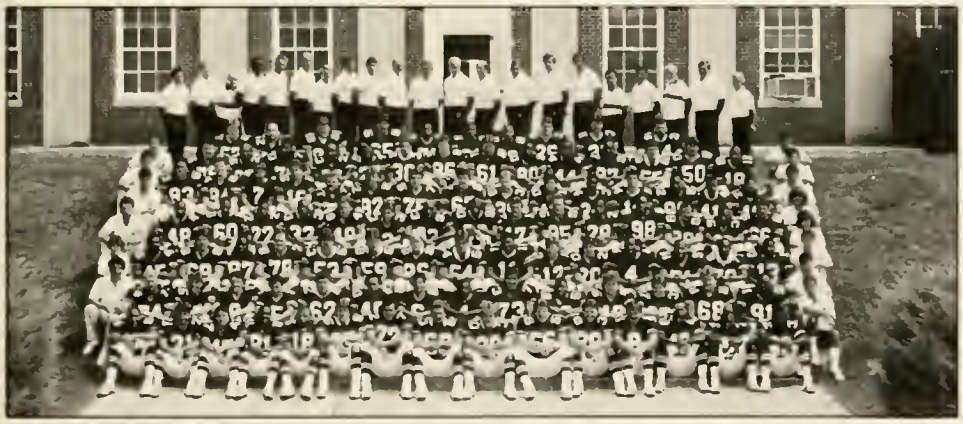
1985



Maryland made it three championships in a row and six in 12 years, by finishing unbeaten in ACC play. For the fourth straight year and the 11th time in 13 seasons, the Terps took part in post-season play, knocking off Syracuse in the Cherry Bowl, 35-18. Maryland extended its ACC game win streak to 17, with a 33-21 title clinching victory over Virginia on the season's final weekend. A pair of offensive tackles, J.D. Maarleveld of Maryland and Jim Dombrowski of Virginia were tabbed as consensus All-Americans.

The first capacity crowd in Gator Bowl history — attendance was 16,666 that day — witnessed one of the greatest games in the storied history of the bowl. A young Maryland team, underdog to an experienced Georgia squad, got up by 13 points in the fourth quarter and eventually settled for the 20-all tie. Lou Gambino was a one-man wrecking crew for the Terrapins, scoring the only touchdown of the first half on a 35-yard run. In the second half, after a Georgia score, Gambino scored on a 1-yard run and on a 24-yard pass from John Baroni A series of special teams miscues — namely a short kickoff and mishandled punt — set up Georgia's comeback. Despite the tie, there was no question as to the game's most valuable player. Gambino won the Burkhalter Award, signifying the game's outstanding performer.

Three times in the first half Missouri turned the ball over and all three times Maryland took it in for touchdowns as the Terrapins handed the Tigers their second consecutive Gator Bowl loss. Defensive back John Idzik set up Maryland's first score with a 26-yard interception return to the Mizzou 11 Bob Shemonski scored on a sweep on the next play, and the rout was on. Ed Modzelewski scored on a three-yard run to give the Terps a 13-0 lead and Shemonski capped Maryland's scoring later in the second quarter with a six yard touchdown run.

In a game historians even today call the biggest win in Maryland football history, Jim Tatum's Terrapins upset the nation's No. 1 ranked Tennessee Volunteers of Gen. Bob Neyland. Buoyed by the running of All-American fullback Ed "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski (153 yards on 28 carries) and All-American quarterback Jack Scarbath, the No. 3 ranked Terps scored three TDs before the Vols got one in the first half for a 21-6 lead. They put the game out of reach in the third quarter with a 46-yard interception return TD by Ed Fullerton for a 28-6 margin lead. The Terrapin defense was brilliant all afternoon.

The Terrapins took another undefeated (10-0) record and the nation's No. 1 ranking in their second Orange Bowl visit in three years, and again played Oklahoma. The Sooners, completely unawed by the Terps National Championship team, staged a second quarter land rush to score the only score on a 25-yard sprint by team captain and halfback Larry Grigg. The Terrapins suffered a major setback when All-American Bernie Faloney could not start because of severe ankle injury. He entered the game in the 3rd quarter for five plays, but was unable to continue.

The victory extended Oklahoma's winning streak to 30 games and snapped Maryland's 15-game winning string. The Terps were No. 3 ranked and the Sooners, No. 1. This was a reversal of the '54 Orange Bowl two years earlier as the Terps were the No. 1 team in the nation, and the Sooners, No. 3. The Terps held a 6-0 halftime lead and then were bewildered by three Sooner second half touchdowns for their second Orange Bowl win over the Terps.

Maryland came away from its first bowl game in 18 years a bitterly disappointed team. The Terrapins had dominated Georgia in all phases of the game. Both teams scored 10 first half points. The Bulldogs went up, scoring in the third after recovering a Terp fumble. Seven times, the Terrapins were inside the Georgia 20-yard line that ended in three Mike-Mayer field goals. On four of the seven occasions, they were within the 13 and came away with zero points.

Tennessee scored their only but winning touchdown with 2:08 left in the game. The winning score came on a 11-yard pass from second string quarterback Randy Wallace to end Larry Seivers. It was Wallace's only pass of the game. The Terps were punting from their 13 when a bad snap from center was recovered by the Vols on the Terps 7. After a loss of 4 yards, Wallace threw for the score. The Terps put on a desperation drive and an apparent 20-yard TD winning reception was ruled out of bounds.

The ACC champion Terrapins upset the seven-point favorite Florida Gators in a game played in a steady downpour. The Terps had posted their best season record in 20 years (8-2-1). They intercepted three Florida passes, turning two of them into scores, a 19-yard touchdown pass to Kim Hoover from Larry Dick and 20-yard field goal by Mike Sochko for a 10-0 half time lead. Sochko added a 27-yarder in the fourth quarter. It was the first Terp win over a SEC team since 1955. The Gators went into the game (9-2) as the SEC's total offense leader.

Academic All-Americans

COSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) each year honors an Academic All-America football team made up of top scholar-athletes from universities around the country. The Maryland recipients:

1953 Bernie Faloney, QB (First Team)
1954 George Palahunik, (First Team)
1956 Mike Sandusky, T (First Team)
1970 Steve Fromang, C (Second Team)
1975 Kim Hoover, WR (Second Team)
1977 Jonathon Claiborne, DB (Second Team)
Joe Muffler, DE (Second Team)
1978 Joe Muffler, DE (First Team)

Academic All-America nominees must maintain a specific GPA (3.00 on 4.00 scale) or better and be a starter or top reserve. That minimum grade average was raised to 3.20 beginning with the 1982 season.

John Sorna
1988 — Ken Oberle

The creation of the Academic Support Unit at Maryland puts the University commitment to the student-athlete front and center It is important to the University that each student-athlete grow academically and graduate, and to that end Academic Support has as large a presence as any sport of program in the athletic department.

Dr. Gerald Gurney, Assocate Athletic Director for Academic Support and Compliance, oversees a program of intensive assessment, skell developm,ent, and counseling that is offered to each student-athlete. Academic Support offers a comprehensive program for personal and academic development that includes the following:

- Personal academic career assessment.
- Tutoring
- Supervised study.
- Learning skill programs.
- Academic monitoring.
- Computer training and usage.
- Career mentorship.
- Summer internships.
- Career awareness programs and job hunting.

Dr. Gurney joined Maryland in 1987 after tenures at Southern Methodist and Iowa State, institutions which were lauded for their nationally recognized academic support programs. Dr. Gurney earned his Ph.D. in higher education administration from Iowa State in 1980. He holds a master's degree in counseling and student personnel work, and a bachelor of science in English education, both from Ohio State University.

Working with him is a distinguished staff that includes:

Dr. Javaune Adams-Gaston coordinates the developmental services arm of the Unit, organizing the student-athlete orientation, drug education and career programs. A licensed clinical pyscholigist, Dr. Adams Gaston also coordinates the various counseling progams offered. She received her Ph D. in counseling psychology from Iowa State in 1983.

John Bowman is coordinator of academic counseling, and he directs the monitoring of student-athlete progress. In following each student-athlete's progress towards a degree, he makes use of his 18 years of campus knowledge acquired as an academic advisor at College Park. Bowman received an M A degree in 1976 from Case Western Reserve University in education

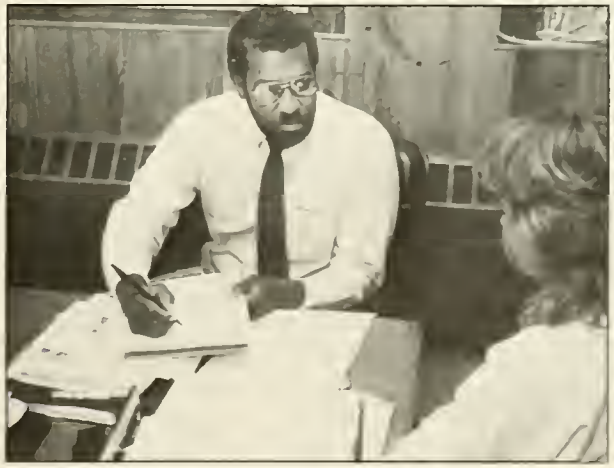
Bea Pray's responsibilities include student services and certification, housing, financial aid, and academic counseling She coordinates the increasing flow of certification paperwork, and is in charge of special recognition awards such as the Atlantic Coast Conference Honor Roll, and Maryland's student honor roll. She has been at College Park since 1986, and earned a Master of Science in Education from Kansas State in 1975.

An Academic support staff member coordinates, trains and assigns the growing roster of over 100 tutors. They also oversee study sessions for the student-athlete and the athletic department book room. As part of the duties in tutoring, the department coordinates a computer program that makes available to the student-athlete immediate access to work time on personal computers.

These four specialists head an Academic Support Unit that includes over 75 personnel. Maryland's commitment in academic support is second to none.

Dr. Gerald Gurney: academic counseling at Maryland is personal.

Dr. Javaune Adams-Gaston: academic counseling offers more than just a nuts and bolts thrust.



John Bowman: specialists fill administrative roles designed to make sure academic and athletic goals are realized.

Terp Strength and Conditioning

Preparing an athlete to play a particular sport is the mission of the Strength and Conditioning program at Maryland. Proper training leads to more confidence on the athlete's part, and translates into a competitive, ready Terrapin.

Strength and Conditioning is directed by Frank Costello, an extraordinary competitor and coach. As a Terrapin undergraduate, he was the third ranked high jumper in the world, NCAA Champion and four-time All-America. As a coach he led Maryland to both the IC4A Indoor and Outdoor team titles and was NCAA District Coach of the Year. Maryland's Strength and Conditioning Coordinator since 1981, Costello coaches the whole athlete. He is one of the leading authorities on the dangers of drug abuse in his profession, and is a frequent guest on network television explaining the dangers of taking shortcuts to enhance the body.

Costello and assistants Dave Pacella and Steve Wetzel begin the road to physically preparing an athlete to play their sport by conferring with the sport's coach, and then testing and evaluating the individual. Weight training, speed training, flexibility training—all could be part of a balanced prescription to excel, depending on the sport.

Pacella is one of the great offensive lineman in Maryland history and a professional football veteran. He is one of three Terps in ACC history to win the Jacobs Blocking Trophy, awarded by the league to its outstanding lineman at season's end. Wetzel set the Drug Free Collegiate bench press record of 385 pounds (165 pound class) while at Slippery Rock, and he teaches strength and conditioning classes at Montgomery Junior College.

Maryland's commitment to strength and conditioning grows with the explosion of interest among athletes and coaches. Men's and women's sports, team and individual competition—every sport is involved. Two weight rooms now exist, with the facility expansion and refurbishment under The Maryland Partnership promising even better facilities in the future.

Whether empty of full, Byrd is a classic stadium with the block M covering the end zone seats, a new ammated scoreboard, and a Saturday afternoon ACC Crowd.

The Byrd Stadium complex has an artifical surface field, and two Bermuda grass fields that would do well as fairways on a golf course.

The Football Team House includes lockers, lounges, strength and conditioning facilities.

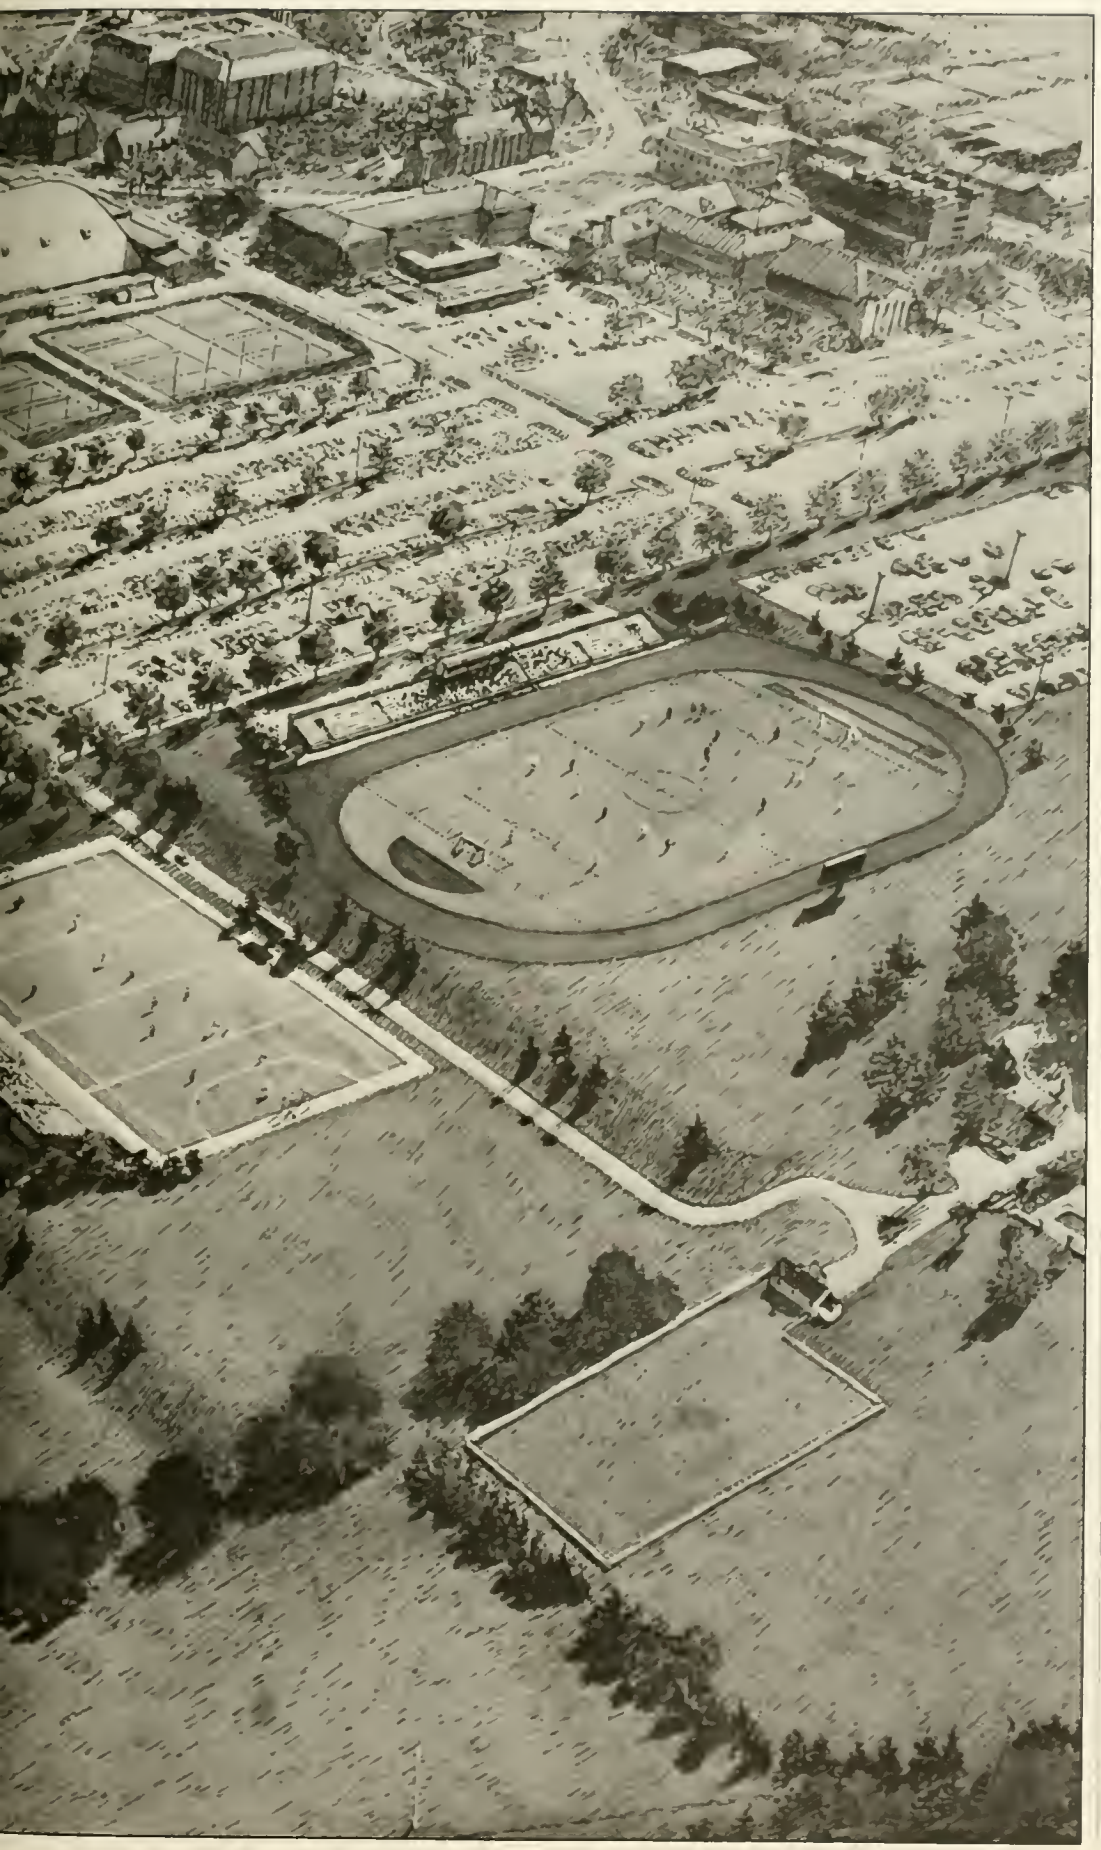
The state of Maryland and friends of Maryland athletics have joined to create an exciting future for College Park sports facilities. Fifty-four million dollars is to be invested in the coming years in creation of a state-of-the-art environment for the Maryland competitor. The First Phase to be done is mostly the rebuilding of the Byrd Staduim complex.

Twleve million dollars is being raised from private contributions to match over $7 million in state monies that will allow for an overhaul of Byrd's Stadium's concrete structure, new seating, new spectator support facilities (ticket booths, concessions, rest rooms), and a new press box. Buildings now enclosing the open end of the stadium horseshoe will be removed and replaced by a new football support facility that will house locker rooms, coach's offices, strength and conditioning, and sports medicine. Funds from phase one will also be used to design an indoor practice facility that will be attached to the new football support facility.

The refurbishment of Cole Field House, one of America's great indoor stadiums, includes a new playing surface, lighting, sound system, and spectator support facilities. Extensive locker facilities, especially to accomodate the explosion of women's sports since Cole was built in 1955, are planned. A new academic support area, a wrestling room addition, and a thorough reconditioning of Coles's second, practice gymnasium are part of Phase One.



The Maryland Partnership will grow beyond Byrd Stadium and Cole Field House. Pictured above are new playing fields that will be home to field hockey, soccer, track and field, baseball, lacrosse, and tennis teams. Basketball, volleyball and wrestling will benefit from the refurbishment of Cole; not included in this artist's view of the future is a new natatorium for Terp swim teams which will be built a block to the left of Byrd Stadium. Maryland's 18 hole golf course and a practice range are across University Boulevard from the pictured baseball field.

Maryland Broadcast Group

The Maryland Broadcast Group will once again bring Terrapin fans the most comprehensive coverage of Maryland football with a 23 station network.

The flagship of the network is watt WMAL in Washington, D.C. WMAL will feed stations throughout Maryland and Pennsylvania all the Terps' action this fall. Saturdays begin with an insightful pre-game show that includes in-depth analysis of both teams and interviews with coaches and players. The halftime show reviews first half action and features conversations with special guests. After the final gun, the post-game show wraps-up the day, including comments from Coach Krivak and a look at next week's opponent.

For the 11th consecutive season, the popular Johnny Holliday will serve as the "voice of the Terrapins". Holliday, WMAL radio personality, brings listeners closer to the game with his crisp play-by-play work. His knowledge and expertise on Maryland football enhances his game-day broadcasts.

Holliday is a multi-talented figure who is recognized nationally. Every morning, his sports updates can be heard on WMAL's highly rated Harden and Weaver show. In addition, his reports travel across the country via the ABC Information Network.

Holliday's credentials also include hosting the WMAL stadium show before each Redskins game and anchoring the 1988 Winter Olympics in Calgary and the Summer Games in Seoul for ABC Radio. He also can be frequently seen on the Home Team Sports cable television network, hosting the Maryland Coach's Corner, the Redskins Report, and covering various live sporting events.

Despite his busy schedule, the versatile Holliday still finds time to participate in a variety of community activities for which he was honored by Washington Magazine as "Washingtonian of the Year." His celebrity basketball and softball teams have raised more than a million dollars over the years for local charities. Holliday is also a fine actor who periodically performs at the Harlequin Dinner Theatre in Rockville, Maryland.

Holliday and his wife, Mary Clare, are the parents of three daughters: Kellie, 29, Tracie, 26, and Moira, 10.
